30 PERISH IN HINDENBURG FLAMES

Cause of Disaster to Giant Dirigible Is Mystery

FAIR Enough

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The suppression of dirty burlesque may strike some of our citizens as more oppression by the same blue-nosed witch-burners who inflicted prohibition on the land, but a quick canvas will show that the country is much more tolerant today than it was 20 years ago.

Prizefighting was then forbidden in many states which now permit the slashing tigers to attach one another with furious lefts and rights to the face and body. Horse racing was narrowed down to New York, Maryland, Kentucky and New Orleans, and had recently been forbidden in New York. Sunday baseball was illegal in New York, and dog racing with the mechanical bunny luring the feeble-minded hound, was not yet known.

The greyhound's forehead recedes so quickly that he can scarcely be said to have any forehead at all, and that may explain why he continues to chase the synthetic rabbit (See PEGLER, Page 14)

EDWARD, WALLY POSE TODAY

MONTS. France. (AP)—Edward of Windsor and Wallis Warfield Simpson, hand-in-hand and beaming, posed for photographers today beneath a chestnut tree on the lawn of the Chateau de Candé.

Inside, invitations were being prepared for the select circle that will witness the former British monarch's marriage to Mrs. Simpson on a still secret wedding day. "We are very happy. We always are very happy," the duke said, smiling. The woman for whose love he renounced a throne nodded her emphatic approval.

The date for the wedding will be announced after the coronation of the duke's brother-in-law, George VI, in London next Wednesday. Herman L. Rogers, spokesman for the betrothed pair, said the announcement may be made next Friday, adding that it certainly would not be on Thursday, May 13, for that is an unlucky date.

The picture business is a whole lot like every other business in one respect. There is a lot of people responsible for its success that you never hear anything about. For instance you never hear anything about the technical advisor. When they're makin' a Roman picture, they have a technical advisor who studies up on the early Roman period so he'll be able to tell us just what kind of spears they used—what kind of saddles—and suits or armour—and shields and things like that, and even what they ate in those days.

One producer out here was makin' a religious picture and he tried to cut down expenses by not hirin' a technical advisor. He watched the director makin' one scene where they were using the 12 apostles and he leaned over and tapped the director on the shoulder and says "That scene looks pretty bare—you better put on about 15 or 20 more apostles."

CLIPPER SHIP BUILDER IS AWAITED

Martin Due Here Monday
To Repeat Historic
Catalina Flight

All Orange county today is awaiting the arrival of Glenn Martin, builder of Clipper ships and the first man to fly from the mainland to Santa Catalina island.

Martin, who made the water jump to Catalina May 10, 1912, will repeat the performance in one of his China clipper ships Monday, on the 25th anniversary of his epoch-making flight, which was the longest ocean flight on record at that time.

Martin is a Santa Ana man whose first ship was built in a barn here. He completed the pontoons for his crude biplane on May 9, 1912, and made the flight the next day. He made the trip from the pavilion at Balboa, landed at Avalon, and then returned by way of San Pedro, Long Beach, and Newport, landing just before midnight.

Simple Instruments
His only instruments were a rude compass strapped to his knee, a wrist watch with which he determined his location, and an aneroid barometer by which he could estimate his height. He did not see the ocean at any time during his flight, making the entire trip in a thick blanket of fog. It took him just 37 minutes to make the 34 miles from the island.

Reports from the Newport and Balboa post offices indicate that more than 1200 pieces of mail will be carried by Martin on his flight. These figures were advanced by Alphonse Hamann, Balboa postmaster. A special cachet has been arranged.

Start at San Pedro
Martin is now in the Biltmore hotel in Los Angeles, and will remain there until time for the flight Monday morning.

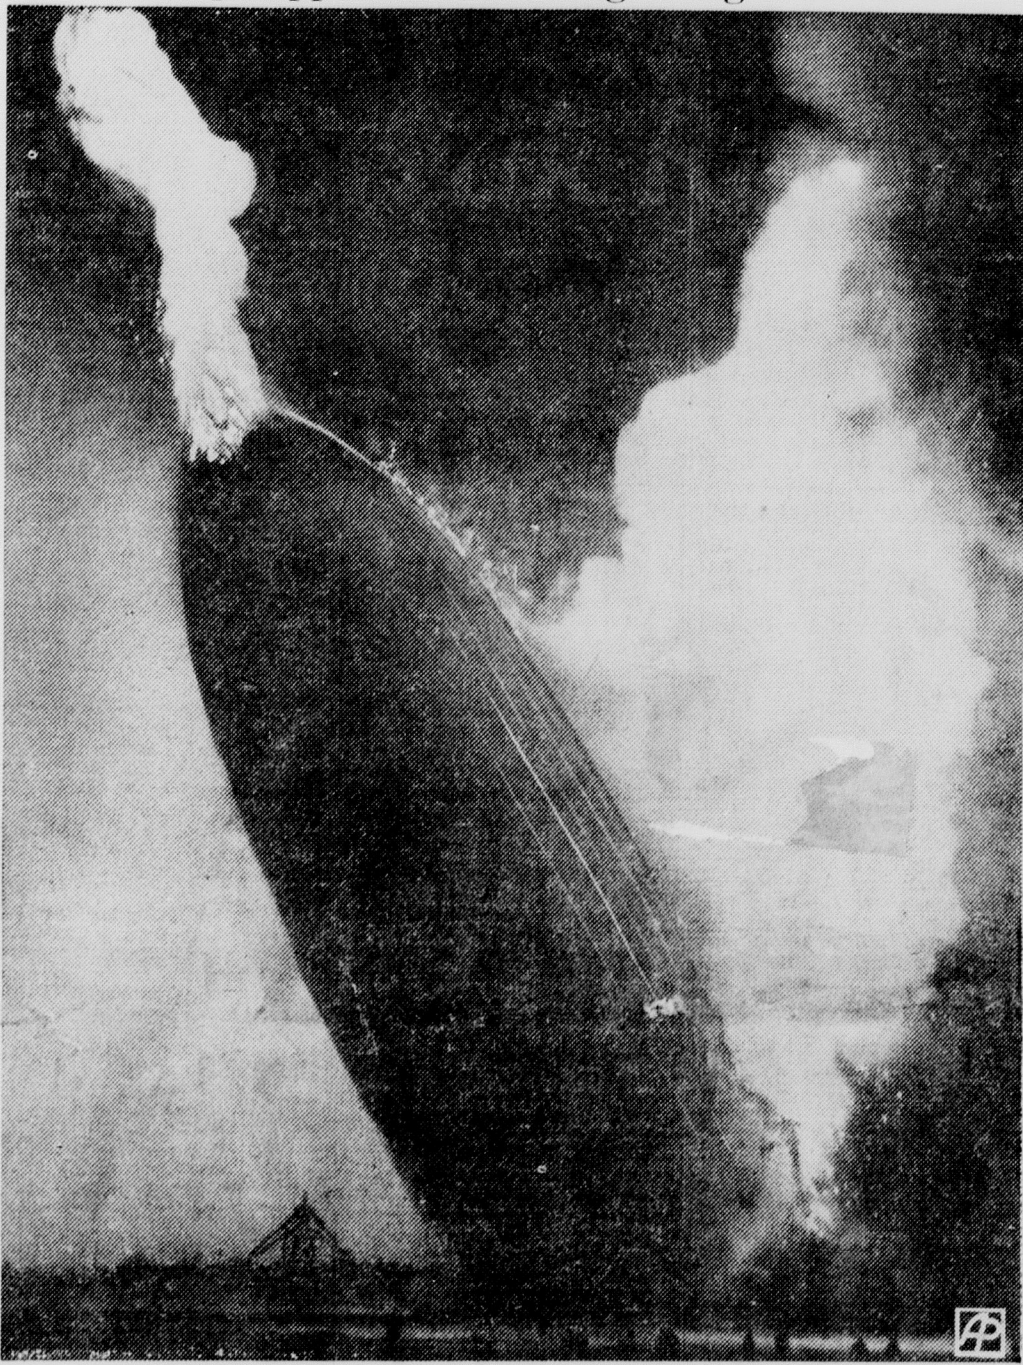

The flight schedule calls for Martin to board one of his China Clipper ships in San Pedro at 11:45 a. m. He will pass Newport and circle the bay at 12:10, and will land at Avalon at about 12:30. The Clipper ship will then proceed to Alameda, for its regularly scheduled Hawaiian flight, and Martin will return to the mainland on the Wrigley steamer, Avalon.

Plan Dinner Fete
He will be met at Wilmington by a delegation from Newport and Balboa which will take him to the Newport Harbor Yacht club, arriving there about 4:30 p. m. Martin and his party are to be guests of honor at a dinner to be held at the yacht club Monday evening.

Those in Martin's party include his mother, Mrs. Mintade Ione Martin; Dr. Clark B. Millikan, president of the American Institute of Aeronautics; Lester F. Gardner, secretary of the association; and General Oscar Westover, chief of the air forces, United States Army.

Burning Zeppelin Hindenburg Plunges To Earth

This picture was taken at the precise moment that the giant German zeppelin Hindenburg hit the earth, a flaming pyre, a few moments after it burst into flames over the Lakehurst, N. J. airport. TAYLOR CASE PROBE ENDS

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—The district attorney's office, studying evidence obtained by the grand jury, was considering today the possibility of another inquiry into Hollywood's darkest death mystery—the shooting, 15 years ago, of Director William Desmond Taylor.

A voluminous new chapter was added to the file. No more witnesses were scheduled before the grand jury today.

The testimony of Mary Miles Minter, plump, 35-year-old ex-film star, who was Taylor's sweetheart; Mrs. Margaret Fillmore, her sister, and Mrs. Charlotte Shelby, their mother, was apparently closed.

The full content of their statements was unknown, since the session was secret. But District Attorney Byron Fitts did say Mrs. Fillmore had introduced a new name into the case. He said Mrs. Fillmore testified that James Kirkwood, one-time screen hero, had been in love with Miss Minter.

"But Kirkwood isn't implicated in this case," Fitts said.

A Dull Boom, Then Flames And Tragedy

By ROBERT OKIN

LAKEHURST, N. J. (AP)—The world's greatest airship nosed acutely into a rain-swept port in the murk of twilight, and an instant later—scant minutes from security—she was a mass of flames.

It was just after 6 p. m. (Eastern Standard Time) yesterday when the Tindenberg headed downward to the naval air station and a mooring to complete the first westward trip of the 1937 season. She had idled in the neighborhood more than an hour—officers had avoided the great saucer of the field where thin flashes of lightning and ominous crashings of thunder accompanied squalls of wind and circled in the distance, where the sky was clear of clouds.

Settles Carefully
Gleaming despite the dusk, the great ship settled carefully after the storm moved on. Streamers of liquid ballast were flung from her aft tanks. Lights shone at nose and tail, and observers could see through the windshield into the control cabin as she neared the ground.

Two weighted cables dropped several hundred feet to the ground. The ground crew seized them. The powerful hrons of the motors was the only sound in the still, twilight hush.

Then came a dull, sickening boom.

The entire stricken barge into red flames and black, clotted smoke. The Hindenburg sank aft. Then the forward fabric caught fire and, her steel girders horribly naked, the ship fluted to the ground in the scarlet light of her own end. It only took a minute.

NEWS STUNS FATHERLAND

BERLIN. (AP)—A shocked and tearful German nation summoned an official commission today for a quick trip of investigation over the Hindenburg disaster, yet rallied amid the deepest mourning to follow "the same path" of aerial trail-making.

The Nazi air ministry called an early afternoon conference of officials of the Zeppelin Construction Company, the Zeppelin Airlines, and the German Institute of Aeronautical Research to decide the personnel of the commission that will speed by plane and liner to Lakehurst.

The German people, from Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler and Dr. Hugo Eckener down to the poorest workman in the stunned and tearful knots that gathered in the streets, were plunged into profound and amazed grief.

So great was Germany's wonder that "our pride" had burned and fallen with a loss of 30 lives that few were willing to hazard a definite guess as to the cause.

As early as Nov. 10, 1930, Dr. Eckener gave the Associated Press an interview in which he expressed the belief that the British R-101 accident proved the necessity of helium gas. The United States has a virtual monopoly on that gas.

Roosevelt Wires His Condolences

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—Shocked by the Hindenburg disaster, President Roosevelt today requested he be kept informed of developments in the explosion that wrecked the German dirigible at Lakehurst, N. J. Immediately upon learning of the tragedy last night, the President, from his vacation yacht Potomac off Port Aransas, dictated messages of sympathy to the German people, the families of the victims, and to Adolf Hitler, German chancellor.

DR. ECKENER WEEPS OVER DISASTER

Zep Designer to Keep On Building Them;
Wants Helium Gas

BERLIN. (AP)—Dr. Hugo Eckener, designer of the Hindenburg, was moved today to tears by news of the Lakehurst tragedy, but quickly drew from it an argument for use of Helium—which Germany lacks—to float the nation's lighter-than-air craft.

Word of the disaster smote the 69-year-old aeronautical pioneer at a Graz, Austria, hotel. When he was awakened to be told that the Hindenburg was a mass of smoke blackened, twisted girders, tears welled to his eyes, the hotel proprietor said.

Eckener Dumbfounded
At first the grizzled doctor seemed unable to comprehend what had happened.

"I cannot grasp that flames have turned 'our pride' into a smashed skeleton," he muttered. Given the first sketchy reports, Dr. Eckener said "it might have been sabotage."

"There can be several reasons for the wreck," he explained. "The reports are still too indefinite to make any announcement."

Tells of Warnings
He said he would leave immediately for Friedrichshafen, where the Zeppelin docks are located.

"We have received several anonymous warnings of possible efforts to damage the ship," the doctor added. "One mysterious warning told us not to attempt landing in America. Every precaution was taken but the only rational conclusion was that the veiled threat came from cranks."

Meanwhile, Germany officially vowed an unfaltering pursuit of lighter-than-air navigation. A rigid censorship was imposed on press accounts of the disaster.

Says Only Helium Safe
The veteran Eckener, who has been on an automobile tour in Austria, told newspapermen:

"I always insisted airships are safe only with helium, ever since the English dirigible crashed in France five years ago."

He turned to the future: "I will go ahead with construction of dirigibles and send them around the globe."

"The new German Zeppelin (sister ship of the Hindenburg now under construction) will be filled with helium. If we can get it from America," he declared. A commission to investigate the wrecking of the Hindenburg was to sail for the United States today on the Europa. The investigation (See ECKENER, Page 2)

ALL GONE BUT LOS ANGELES

LAKEHURST, N. J. (AP)—As the charred remains of the Hindenburg victims were piled under improvised shrouds in one room of the vast hangar here today, the silvery sides of the old American dirigible Los Angeles glinted a few feet away, a silent reminder of previous tragedies.

Of six airships that have brought crowds to Lakehurst—the Shenandoah, Los Angeles, Akron, Macon, the Graf Zeppelin and the Hindenburg—only the Los Angeles remains—a schoolroom for naval airship students. The Shenandoah, Akron and Macon all met with disaster. The Graf Zeppelin is in the South American-European service.

Farmers Revive Planning Feud

The Orange County Farm Bureau today had revived its feud with the supervisors over representation of rural men on the county planning commission.

In approving activities of the livestock committee in its fight for zoning to keep garbage-eating hog ranches out of the Talbert area, directors yesterday objected again to the scarcity of rural men on the commission.

68 Survive Blast Of German Luxury Ship at Lakehurst

LAKEHURST, N. J. (AP)—The flaming destruction of the once-seemingly impregnable dirigible Hindenburg brought swift action today by the American and German governments to determine the cause of the disaster.

Thirty persons were known dead or missing. Of the 97 passengers and members of the crew aboard when the greatest of all airships exploded, burst into flames and crashed to earth last night—just as it was lowering to the mooring mast, and only 200 feet above the ground—68 persons survived. One of those killed was a spectator, burned to death in the falling, fiery debris.

Junk Heap of Metal
The runs or the luxurious liner of the skies lay crumpled on the landing field at the naval air station—a junk heap of black metal, a mass of ghastly, grisly framework.

On the lips of everyone was the question—what caused the crash, what was the matter? Twenty times had the Hindenburg crossed the north Atlantic safely.

As Washington officials and Dr. Hans Luther, the German ambassador, opened inquiries, three possible causes—all, however, relating to the highly inflammable hydrogen used in the German Zeppelins—were outlined by the ship's designer and pilot of numerous voyages, Dr. Hugo Eckener.

Eckener's Theories
"I should say that if this disaster was caused by sabotage," said Dr. Eckener, who was in Austria on a speaking trip, "only the firing of a burning bullet into the bags could have accomplished it. That seems highly unlikely."

"From this distance and on the basis of incomplete information," Dr. Eckener set forth these possibilities: "1. When the ship is lowered, some hydrogen usually is released. This free hydrogen in the air might have been sufficiently concentrated to be ignited by lightning or a spark."

Cigaret Spark Unlikely
"2. When landing, the water ballast is released from the tanks. A stream of water, connecting with the earth, might have served as an electrical conductor to bring up a spark from the ground."

"3. Someone aboard may have made a fire, a spark possibly from a cigarette lighter. I regard this also as unlikely, for the conduct of passengers and crew is watched carefully."

Smoking on the Hindenburg was allowed only in a spark-proof compartment.

Commander Charles E. Rosendahl, commandant at the naval station, said the fire originated at or near the stern of the ship about 6:25 p. m. (EST).

Rosendahl Reports
In his report to the navy department, the commandant, a veteran in lighter-than-air service, said:

"About four minutes after the ropes had been dropped a fire appeared in the after-part of the ship and worked progressively forward. The ship settled to the ground tail first and was practically completely ablaze for her entire length by the time the ground was reached."

Pilot Pruss

Capt. Max Pruss (above) piloted the Hindenburg to its blazing fate at the naval airport at Lakehurst, N. J. Pruss succeeded Capt. Ernst E. Lehmann as commander for the first Atlantic crossing this season.

CRAFT'S CHIEFS BADLY BURNED

LAKEWOOD, N. J. (AP)—Capt. Max Pruss, commander of the Hindenburg, was reported by the Ocean county coroner today to be in a "critical condition" at Paul Kimball hospital. The coroner, Dr. Raymond Taylor, said the condition of Capt. Ernst A. Lehmann, whom Pruss succeeded as commander, was also serious and he "was not out of the woods yet."

INSURANCE ON SHIP HEAVY

LONDON. (AP)—Insurance authorities here said today the Hindenburg was insured for $2,500,000, with the $2,000,000 spread thinly among numerous Lloyds Underwriters, and the remainder held by German interests.

BEGIN PROBE OF AIRSHIP DISASTER

Explosion Sends Zeppelin Hindenburg Crashing to Earth

pointed a board of inquiry to hold public hearings. The secretary said they would probably begin during the afternoon and not later than tomorrow morning.

A naval inquiry was regarded as a certainty, since the dirigible crashed on a naval reservation.

Identifying Difficult
The identification of dead was difficult. The ship's manifest was destroyed in the holocaust. Zeppelin officials were in frequent communication with Germany, checking last-minute changes in the passenger lists. Reservations had been made for 39 persons, but company officials said only 36 were aboard, and 61 members of the crew.

All bodies recovered from the twisted, fire-warped skeleton were brought to an improvised morgue in the hangar which was closely guarded.

United States troops guarded the ash-strewn ruins of the airship—the first of the Zeppelins to carry a commercial passenger to death.

Many Near Death
Many of the survivors—some of whom jumped from the liner as it fell to earth, others who were catapulted to safety in the impact, and even some who staggered out of the inferno alive—were in dangerous condition in hospitals near the air station.

Captain Max Pruss, who was commanding the Hindenburg for the first time, was one of those in a critical condition.

Captain Ernest A. Lehmann, whom Pruss succeeded and who was on the ship in an advisory capacity, also was in a serious condition.

Scores of spectators witnessed the sudden shocking tragedy. One instant they waved greetings up to the passengers standing in the windows of the observation compartment. Then, in a flash, a cannoning explosion jarred the huge cigar shaped craft, a streak of flame lashed out, and the Hindenburg plummeted clumsily to earth.

Bodies Hurtle to Earth
Tiny black objects—bodies—from the flaming craft. On the ground, women spectators screamed and covered their eyes in horror.

In the span of seconds before flames enveloped the silvery fabric of the world's largest dirigible, some of the passengers and crew jumped, crawled or were hurled clear of the falling ship.

Others were trapped in the blazing stern, their screams audible to the comparatively small crowd gathered to witness what they considered a routine arrival of the big Zeppelin.

What happened to the airship that had made so many safe crossings to this and other countries remained a mystery.

Carl Weigand, skipper of the

Before hundreds of horrified spectators, the giant zeppelin Hindenburg exploded with a terrific roar yesterday over the Lakehurst, N. J., airport at the completion of a transatlantic flight from Germany. This remarkable picture was taken as one of the explosions sent great balls of flame spurting from the descending bag. (Copyright, 1937, by News Syndicate Co., Inc. from the Associated Press.)

S. S. Deutschland, who rushed to Paul Kimball hospital at Lakehurst to see Captain Lehmann, quoted him as saying:

"I don't know what happened. She just went up."

Dazed and bleeding survivors didn't know what happened.

They didn't know, in fact, how they had survived.

The 800 foot long swastika-embellished ship, graceful despite her bulk, sailed into her American port in a rainstorm, more than 12 hours late because of headwinds which cut down speed over the Atlantic.

Unhurried despite a planned quick turn-about with a record number of passengers, many of them bound for the English coronation, the ship nosed up toward the mooring mast.

Then—The Blast
Two lines went down at 6:20 p. m. (EST). Passengers, spotting relatives and greeters on the field 200 feet below, waived gaily.

Three minutes later—explosion. The ship settled to earth, its bag now a solid mass of flame, its terrific, bewildered occupants shrieking.

As the flaming mass plunged downward, there rose a cry to the ground crew: "Run for your lives!"

The first bewildered moment gone, they ran back to the blazing, still-exploding wreckage.

"The navy boys grimly dove in to the flames like dogs after rabbits," said Gill Robb Wilson, state aviation director, in lauding their rescue work.

Throws Sons Out

Mrs. Herman Doehner of Mexico City, told Point Pleasant hospital aides that she and two sons were in the dining room when the first blast occurred. She threw her sons out of the window and then, with the ship six feet off the ground, jumped herself. A daughter, Irene, 16, died of injuries this morning. Her husband, Hermann Doehner, was listed among the dead.

The Hindenburg, which had put out from her home base, Frankfurt-On-Main, Germany, 76 hours before, had cruised majestically over New England and the sky-scrapers of New York and headed to Lakehurst for an evening landing. The big ship was sighted at Lakehurst soon after 3 o'clock, but hovered over the pines, looking much like a big cigar, awaiting the clearing of a light rain and electrical storm.

Ground Crew On Hand
The ground crew of 90 navy men and 110 civilians, in the charge of Lieut. R. K. Tyler, former flight officer who flew in lighter-than-air craft during the World war, were in the mooring mast—seven feet lower than last year's to permit greater control of the craft as she was wound in by the nose.

The motor droned as she approached the mast. Two rose lines were dropped through trap doors. The huge silver bag gleamed despite fast falling darkness. A light rain was still falling.

Then came a crackling roar, and the few hundred spectators gasped. The detonation tore the ship in half. She burned as she crumpled by the time she settled the 200 feet to earth she was a blazing tomb.

Fear All Perished
At first it was feared that all aboard had perished. Then a steward and two cabin boys appeared out of the wreckage, stunned.

A man crawled out of a gondola, his clothes burned off. His body was red. A woman leaped from a window. More came stumbling out.

The ground crew found the dead, as well as the living. All evening long reports of the number of dead varied. It went down to 75, then 50, and then dropped by ones and twos as persons listed as missing were found in nearby hospitals.

Other Disasters
The disaster, writing a fiery fims to the Hindenburg's 135,000 miles of safe transit across the Atlantic, was the first major wreck to involve a lighter-than-air ship carrying paying passengers.

All other crashes, in the 78 years since Count Zeppelin began the use of dirigibles, involved military or naval craft.

It was America's fourth major tragedy of its kind, the other three being the naval dirigible Shenandoah, which broke in two during a storm over Ohio, Sept. 2, 1925, with a death toll of 14; the destruction of the Akron off Barnegat Inlet, April 4, 1933, with 73 killed, and the plunge of the Macon into the sea, off the California coast, early in 1935, with a loss of two lives.

More About DULL BOOM
Zeppelin held the center of a natural stage in a drama of death. Skeleton flares

Little human figures ran crazily. Shrieks and hysterical screams came from the few hundred men and women spectators who had braved the rain to see the end of just another routine voyage.

The crushed skeleton of the ship blazed fiercely. Cars with shrill sirens, trucks, delivery wagons, every motor car on the reservation, streaked down the road to the wreckage.

The twilight had dirtied into funeral gloom then, with only the flames and occasional blasts from the wreckage to tell the story.

First Survivors
Among the first survivors were three boys in their late teens in white stewards' jackets, and a lad—about 14—a cabin boy.

They were brought to the waiting room and customs officers and visitors flocked around them. They said they had jumped out a window.

The boy snickered at something and one of the stewards turned to him. In German he said: "And you can laugh, you little fool!"

gators include Dr. Eckener and Ludwig Duerr, constructor of the Hindenburg.

The other members of the commission will include representatives of the Zeppelin Construction company, Zeppelin airlines and members of the air industry and German Institute of Aeronautical Research.

Duerr worked all night over the airship's construction chart, trying to discover a clue to the cause of the explosion. He did not believe a static current could have ignited the Hindenburg's hydrogen. He said the cause could be established only through interviews with the surviving passengers and crew.

Dr. Eckener's new dirigible, now bearing only the designation "LZ130," is scheduled to be completed next autumn.

More Space Planned

The new ship will carry 75 passengers and will have more space, although its design substantially parallels that of the stricken Hindenburg. It is planned to have a freight capacity of 44,000 to 55,000 pounds, although use of helium, it was said, would reduce its lifting power.

Berlin's populace was awakened by newboys' shouts of "Extra! Extra! Airship Hindenburg Destroyed." Early editions of morning newspapers had carried no mention of the disaster.

Crowds quickly collected in the streets and discussed the tragedy. Many men and women shed tears.

Chancellor Hitler learned of the disaster early today through a telephone call from the propaganda ministry in Berlin to his Berchtesgaden mountain retreat. He was too stunned for words at first, and whatever comment he finally made was not disclosed by his entourage.

BOARD TO HOLD WATER PROGRAM HUDDLE TOMORROW

DECISION ON BOND TOTAL SOUGHT

Other Similar Meetings Planned By Officials For the Future

Will Orange county's flood control bond election be called for $3,500,000 or $2,500,000?

In an effort to come to a decision on the problem, a special meeting of the board of supervisors will be held in the courthouse tomorrow afternoon. The Journal learned today.

It was learned that the supervisors plan to hold a number of similar meetings in an effort to reach an agreement on the amount of the bond election, expected to be called on May 18 if preparations for calling the election can be made at that time.

Favors Larger Sum
Members of the board are digging up all possible information on the subject to decide whether to call the election for $3,500,000 or whether to slash a million dollars from the figure.

Supervisor Willard Smith, chairman of the board, holds that Orange county is obligated to call the election for the larger amount mentioned in the omnibus flood control act which included Orange county's program and which was approved by congress last year. Some members of the board also believe that the board should have enough money for channel and other necessary work above the actual cost of paying for rights-of-way, damages, etc.

West Position
Supervisor N. E. West, however, has assurance from army engineers that they do not care what the amount of money involved is, but do demand that Orange county be in a position to pay its share of the costs.

West claims that with a bond election of $2,500,000 the county will have a surplus emergency fund of from $300,000 to $400,000 over and above the actual cost to the county for the program. The government plans to spend nearly $13,000,000 for the construction of eight dams for Orange county.

Farmers Oppose Relief Bill Again

Further opposition to the so-called "supervisors' relief" bill which has passed both houses of the legislature, was registered yesterday by farm bureau directors. The bill, it is claimed, would add $200,000 a year to Orange county's relief load, while cutting down funds in the larger counties. Each county should care for its own indigents, directors said, and if any county is unable to do so, it should be a state problem and not one for adjoining counties.

She pleaded not guilty today before Justice Kenneth Morrison and was freed on her own recognizance pending trial.

Police Reports

Jim Gullede, jr., mechanic of 810 North Broadway, was arrested yesterday on a city court bench warrant. Judge John G. Mitchell released him with an agreement to pay a fine on the installment plan.

Joe Barra, 55, 122 Orange avenue, brought into court on a similar charge, was released on his own recognizance to appear Monday on a charge of non-payment of a fine.

Manuel Contreras, 36, 2002 West Fifth street, and Clemente Flores were treated at the county hospital for cuts and bruises last night, and Contreras was arrested on an assault and battery complaint signed by Flores after the fight.

Mrs. D. Dent, 2134 Cypress street, asked police to investigate shooting of her cat. Officers talked with a neighbor who admitted, they said, shooting the cat because it had killed several of his pigeons. They were investigating further today.

Townsend News, Views

By
WALTER R. ROBB

Santa Ana Club No. 9 meets at 7:30 tonight at the home of C. A. Holloway, 2027 Cypress street. The meetings hereafter will be held in the Holloway home. J. N. Wire, president, will preside. The membership is urged to be present. Recently the writer received a letter from President Wire that just fairly sizzled with criticism in general of the newspapers of the country, and included those of our own community, because the editors hadn't declared themselves out and out for the Townsend plan. He also enclosed a clipping from another news sheet which panned The Journal because it had within its makeup this Townsend column. President Wire was particularly incensed because more attention had not been given to important Townsend happenings by The Journal and another paper which he mentioned.

President Wire was emphatic in his belief that local and other of the nation's papers would be doing themselves a favor if they would openly espouse enactment of the Townsend plan into the law of the nation. It is hardly necessary to say that the writer agrees completely with Wire's sentiments in that connection. The writer's friend, Wire, concluded his letter which, as before hinted, included some mighty sizzling remarks about newspapers in general, with the following statement: "Old boy, your column is fine but don't include this letter in it or Jackson (meaning the sheriff) will look you up. My opinions of the Santa Ana papers is not very high. Quit writing that column and see what happens."

"(Signed) Your friend, 'J. N. WIRE.'" After reading the above somewhat toned-down contents of a real Townsend's letter in criticism of newspapers, the writer wishes to quote a portion of an editorial contained in last Sunday's San Bernardino Sun, entitled "Heartaches in Old Age Pension Measure." It begins by quoting the following letter that was written to the Sacramento Bee:

"Editor of the Bee—Sir: There is one law enacted by this state that seems decidedly unfair. I refer to the pension for citizens over 65 years."

"If through illness or misfortune, one is able to cling to his home and must ask for money with which to provide food, that person must give a lien on the home before receiving aid. On the other hand, another who never has tried to save for a home, never has paid a cent of taxes to help toward the expense of the government, and, perhaps, never has raised or helped to educate one child, can get the full amount of the pension allowed yet has nothing on which the government can take a lien."

"Now I ask you, is this a fair way for the state to handle the pension money? Those who have had to sacrifice many times and for long years to pay taxes, object to having money handed out freely to help support someone who has thought only of himself, though perhaps he has earned far more during his lifetime than those who have managed to get the home they must offer as security for the money the state may give them."

"MRS. N. M. G. Nevada City, April 25th, 1937." The San Bernardino Sun editor, commenting on the above letter and the California old age state assistance law, said: "Aged people who have through their savings provided themselves with homes, see no justice in a requirement that they give the state a lien against their property if they secure the $35 monthly old age aid. Universally they argue as to why they should be forced to agree to the filing of a lien when those who did not save are entitled to the same aid and have nothing to give in return."

There is much more to the editorial but it is brought to a conclusion with: "But how wrong is the present method of financing old age aid!" "Why not the transaction tax to be paid by everybody as they go through life to provide a fund to pay everybody of 65 years of age a pension whether the own a home or not, or any thing else. Such a tax would be merely the purchase of an annuity. It would be something everybody had to buy, through some sort of a bread tax on everybody. How much happier everybody would be, to know they had bought their own pension, that it was not a gift from anybody, that it belonged to them regardless of whether they had $1, or $2,000 or $1,000,000."

There, President J. N. Wire, I knew I'd find an answer to your letter of indictment for all newspapers being against the Townsend plan. The San Bernardino Sun in that last summary paragraph, has included in it every principle of the Townsend plan law now before the U. S. congress. The editor has dared to make it plain that he indorses the principles of the Townsend plan although he does not name it so. Cheer up, Friend Wire, the day is coming when the great newspapers the country over will be heralding the virtues and ideals of the Townsend plan.

DUAL WATER BOND PLAN PROPOSED

West Suggests Voters Be Given Chance To Express Views

A suggestion that the Orange county flood control bond election be called on two propositions was made today by Supervisor N. E. West.

Yesterday Supervisor West revealed that the army engineers would approve a $2,500,000 instead of the proposed $3,500,000 bond issue.

West suggested that one proposition in the election could be to cover the cost to the county for rights-of-way, damages, etc., involved in the army's program, and the second to cover the cost of channel work and sinking basins to be constructed by the county.

The second phase of the program would be for conservation of water.

No Foundation

A complete statement of Supervisor West's views on the flood control situation follows:

"The contention being made that the government or army engineers insist on the people of Orange county voting a bond issue for $3,500,000 is without the slightest foundation in fact.

"A thorough discussion of this point regarding the size of the bond issue was had between Major Wyman, Major Beeback, Captain Cruze and myself only last Friday in Major Wyman's office in Los Angeles. Without any qualification I was assured that neither the army nor government was concerned as to the size of the bond issue which Orange county should vote provided it would give assurance to the army that it would be sufficient to meet the cost to be borne by the county in the flood control program.

Costs Shown

"A telegram from General Markham, chief of army engineers, received May 4 confirms the fact that the army is not concerned about the size of our bond issue, but only wants satisfactory assurance that we can meet our part of the program. This cost to the county includes only the furnishing of rights of way, relocating the Santa Fe railroad, and the cost or partial cost of rebuilding and relocating roads and highways.

"These conditions or costs can all be safely met by bond issue of two and a quarter millions. It is suggested that an additional $250,000 might probably be included although not likely to be needed. This could be used for channel work and construction of sinking basins.

Estimate Explained

"In view of the definite information that the army is not concerned with the size of the bond issue, it was a distinct surprise to me and to other members of the board of supervisors to read in the papers a few days ago that a bond issue was set for a definite date and that the bond issue was to be for $3,500,000 because this estimate of cost was mentioned in the omnibus rivers and harbors bill passed in the last session of congress.

"The fact is that the estimate of $3,500,000 was the estimate that the county made and furnished to the army. This estimate was based on the appraisals made in 1929 when the rights-of-way to be acquired were on the average twice the value of what they are at present.

Recalls Appraisal

"In order to find out for ourselves and for the army what it would cost the county for rights-of-way and damages to be borne by the county, we had an appraisal made six or eight months ago by three highly recommended Federal Land bank appraisers. These show that the county could meet its requirements for rights-of-way including land in the Prado reservoir, up to the spillway level (which is as much as Major Wyman recommends) for about $1,200,000.

"Allowing liberally for the cost of moving railroad and relocating highways and a 15 per cent additional margin for the cost of rights-of-way the total needed to meet the county's requirements in order to qualify for the complete cost of constructing the eight dams as proposed by the army engineers would be as above stated—$2,250,000.

Question Analyzed

"The question before some members of the board is, whether or not the bond issue should include more than sufficient to qualify for the army program which provides for the building of the dams complete, or whether the bond issue should include an additional million to do channel work below where run-off water, or water coming from the reservoir could be put underground.

"My position is that this bond issue should be limited to the amount of $2,250,000 or $2,500,000 which is fully ample to meet the county's share in cooperating with the government's program and still leave a safe margin of several hundred thousand dollars which could be used for most important channel work and construction of the most needed sinking basins. Or it could be used for retirement of the bonds.

Tax Rate

"Additional channel work and water spreading and sinking areas are needed. I feel that this, however, should be done on a pay-as-you-go program which we can do as we are now doing from the flood control tax which we now levy. This for the past year amounts to 10 cents on the county tax rate and raises approximately $185,000 annually. The need

TO START FIRE CONTROL JOB

Work will start soon on construction of fire suppression barracks and works under a new WPA project which will cost a total of $37,434.

Dan Mulholland, manager of the county WPA construction division, yesterday announced allocation of funds for the project, sponsored by the state forestry department. The government will spend $23,345 on the project, and the sponsor $8089.

The project will employ 116 men. Starting date for the project has not yet been set. The project embraces construction of a four-car garage, assistant ranger's residence at Yorba Linda, a look-out tower and water tank at Cerro Peak, demolition of the Black Star canyon transient camp, warehouse, garage, retaining walls at San Juan, landscaping and similar work.

Another project for which funds were allocated is the Orange city park band stand and park improvement, to cost the government $4573 and the sponsor $1495, and employing 16 men.

for this type of work, and particularly for work in the channels, would not be so urgent after the dams are constructed. It would safely and more economically be done on a pay-as-you-go plan rather than on a bond issue where a substantial part goes to pay interest rather than conserving water and protecting property.

"The bond issue might be called on two propositions. First to cover the cost to the county for rights-of-way, damages, etc., involved in the army program, and the second proposition to cover the cost of channel work, and sinking basins to be done by the county. I don't think it advisable but at least it would give the people a chance to vote on the two issues separately."

READING

And Writing

By JOHN SELBY

Please resign yourself to finding the gifted William Maxwell writing a trick novel, and using pastel shades. Having done so, you will be free to enjoy "They Came Like Swallows." The title comes from W. B. Yeats' verse, as does one of the sub-titles. The rest is Mr. Maxwell.

This is a triple portrait of Elizabeth, the wife of James Morison and the mother of Bunny and Robert Morison. It begins with Bunny, who is the typical sensitive boy of literature, who uses his fragility and charm to get what he wants, and cries when he fails. To Bunny, Elizabeth Morison is a center of light and a source of energy.

Obnoxious Tyrant
The second portrait is drawn through Robert, whose young life was warped but not broken by an accident, which left him a leg. Robert is to Bunny merely an obnoxious tyrant to be outwitted, or perhaps out-charmed would be the word. But Elizabeth understands Robert, and to a certain extent Robert appreciates this. His great gratitude is earned by her steadfast refusal to sympathize or to make obvious allowances for "Robert's affliction."

This last is something James Morison, Elizabeth's husband, is not quite subtle enough to understand. Neither of his sons understands him any better than Morison understands them. Elizabeth understands, however. It is she who steers him, who knows intuitively what reaction will be demanded by what he is about to say. For this and for much else, James loves her.

Poignant Climax
It is the flu epidemic of war time which shatters this delicate but not unusual balance. Quietly Mr. Maxwell builds up a climax which he wishes to make poignant rather than shattering. It is perfectly suited to his method, which achieves strong emotion strongly expressed. But it puts a burden on the reader. There really is no reason why the reader should do Mr. Maxwell's work for him. Three major tragedies which lead up to a fourth and a winning tragedy should be strongly expressed, or the effect may be anti-climactic. Some readers will feel that this is true of "They Came Like Swallows."

"They Came Like Swallows," by William Maxwell (Harpers; $2).

DEDICATE HUGE SCIENCE PLANT

PITTSBURGH. (AP)—Mellon Institute yesterday dedicated its $6,000,000 new building, the world's largest research institution, its exterior a Greek temple nine stories high, its interior new laboratory magic.

It has three and one-half miles of corridors leading to 322 laboratory rooms where at present 185 scientists work.

In the new laboratories the scientist can get the temperature of Tropics or Arctic, or the climate of the Sahara for his experiments simply by turning a thermostat.

If he wants a vacuum resembling that on the surface of the moon he can get it out of a pipe in any laboratory. Other pipes will give him steam, gas, hot or distilled water with the turn of a valve.

Shelves are hooked into the walls. Ten minutes is enough to change the shelf arrangement of an entire room. Furniture is made without bolts or screws—only a rubber mallet is needed to take apart laboratory tables or to add to them.

Ask Abolishment Of Anti-Red Squad

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Charging that the Los Angeles police anti-radical squad was established to serve the interests of reactionary forces in preventing the organization of labor and to keep Los Angeles an "open shop" city, labor groups have petitioned the city council to abolish the squad.

Seek Reasons for Low Tax Income

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Secretary Morgenthau announced Undersecretary Roswell Magill will make a personal field study to spur the treasury's inquiry into reasons why March tax receipts fell below estimates.

Morgenthau told his press conference that studies by 30 revenue agents thus far have not produced satisfactory information.

TELL EFFECT OF U.S. FUND SLASHING

Personnel and Salary Cuts Due if That Policy Pursued

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Financial authorities said today a flat 10 per cent cut in government appropriations for the next year would involve salary and personnel reductions.

A proposal to withhold 15 per cent of each appropriation in the hope that it would not be needed, they added, would bring no savings in many cases, because some of the impounded money would have to be released to meet obligations already fixed by law.

Because of these "fixed charges"—interest on borrowed money, veterans' aid, etc.—reductions can be effected in only about half of the government's costs, they declared, or in $4,000,000 of the $7,724,000,000 budget. The latter figure includes debt retirement.

If 10 per cent were chopped off this "flexible" half of the government's costs, the official said, the savings would be about $400,000,000.

This would necessitate salary cuts and reduction of staffs, they contended, because about $700,000,000 of next year's expenditures are slated for "personal services." Some congressmen, however, have suggested making further cuts in relief costs for next year.

Although congressmen have not discussed the possibility of reductions in salaries and personnel, fiscal authorities said a few such cuts are being made.

UTAH RE-OPENS CULT CASE

SALT LAKE CITY. (AP)—The state yesterday suddenly reopened its investigation of Utah's strange "Home of Truth" cult—demanding to know definitely what has become of the body of a dead woman member.

The woman, Mrs. Edith Peshak, died in February, 1935. The colonists, led by Mrs. Marie M. Ogden, kept the body for months expecting resurrection. They say they still believe she will return to life.

After many delays, a state health department investigator obtained Mrs. Ogden's signature Tuesday on a death certificate for Mrs. Peshak. That requirement of law having been met, the investigator, Miss Eva Ramsey, called the case closed.

Mrs. Ogden declined to say, however, what disposition was made of the body when it "disappeared" in August, 1935. It has been variously reported cremated, buried and hidden away.

Health department officials decided to demand an explanation upon the return of the investigator from Monticello, near which the cultists' colony is situated, 300 miles south of Salt Lake. They explained it was learned the case may not be closed officially until the explanation is given by Mrs. Ogden. It may be a week before she is heard from.

No More Loans For Imperial

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The farm credit administration has advised Senator Hiram W. Johnson conditions in the Imperial valley "do not permit the extension of land bank loans at the present time" to the valley's farmers.

H. H. Lake of the land bank division, in a letter to the senator, said the Imperial Irrigation district "thus far has been unable to make a satisfactory adjustment of its financial difficulties," including default upon its bonded debt, and added:

"This district is, therefore, in the same position as other districts whose financial situation precludes federal land bank loans."

Wallace Hopes For Granary Plan

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Secretary Wallace announced the administration hoped an "ever-normal granary" plan would be in operation this fall.

The secretary told a press conference it was "possible to work out the program" despite the administration's economy plans.

Under the plan wheat, cotton, corn and other major crops would be stored on farms in good years for use in lean years.

Dog Mistakes Sign; Plunges 35 Feet, and Lives
BOSTON. (AP)—When Kenneth Koehler holds his arm horizontally, that's generally a signal for his well-trained German police dog to jump over it. Kenneth held his arm that way the other day, but the dog didn't know he was merely leaning against a bridge railing. The dog leaped—cleared the railing in a graceful arc and plunged 35 feet to railroad tracks below. His master rushed him to an animal hospital where doctors reported the dog was not badly hurt.

FAMOUS STORE IN BIG SALES EVENT

Celebrates Improvement
Program With Dollar
Day Saturday

Solomon may have been right when he said there is nothing new under the sun, but he hadn't seen the newly remodeled and redecorated Famous Department store in Santa Ana, comments Manager George Kidd, who today pointed with pride to the new Famous with its $200,000 stock of merchandise, its five new departments, its rearranged and correlated merchandise, and the spick and span new dress the store is wearing since the decorators, carpenters and mechanics turned it over to Kidd and his sales force.

"To celebrate the advance, the management will put on a Dollar Sale tomorrow, which will excel in price and merchandise anything heretofore offered by this rapidly growing organization," Kidd stated. "There isn't anything you need that you can't find in the Famous store on this big Dollar Sale. Preparations have been going forward for weeks and weeks to collect bargains for the Santa Ana and Orange county trade. You won't be disappointed in the values, and the bargains will be easy to locate as we have arranged the store into departments in order to not only make shopping easy, but a pleasure."

Back of this sales event is the great buying power of the Famous organization which is not only able to buy for less but also sell for less, according to Kidd. "The Famous has through its long business career been able to select trained buyers who know their merchandise. Consequently we can give our patrons the benefit of their long experience," he added.

While Saturday, May 8, will be devoted especially to Dollar bargains, hundreds of other values will be available in a large number of nationally advertised brands, Kidd pointed out.

The shoe department is a story in itself, with over 9000 pairs to choose from. Here are the nationally advertised Tarsal tread, health shoes for women, Red Goose shoes for children, Bates shoes for men, U. S. Keds, Napatan hiking boots, Colt Cromwell riding boots. "This department is as complete as it is possible to make a shoe department," Kidd said. "The Famous did not stop with just shoe merchandise, and there is an atmosphere of comfort permeating this section. The Famous carries the largest stock of work shoes on the Pacific Coast," Kidd continued.

The housewares department, which is one of the largest and most complete in the city, has also been enlarged and redecorated. Dishes, pottery, aluminum and kitchen wear, floor coverings, mattresses by Simmons, bed springs, lamps, electrical appliances, gas, ironing boards, O'Keefe & Merritt stoves and refrigerators, Gilfillan refrigerators, Hot Point all-electric stoves, Thor ABC washing machines, Famous special washing machines, Eureka vacuum cleaners, drapes, curtains, tapestries, window shades, venetian blinds, and many others are stocked in this department.

In the basement The Famous has made a new store. It contains sporting goods, bicycles, camping equipment, paints, beach furniture, awnings, lawn swings and chairs, games of all kinds, toys, tires, oil, batteries, etc.

Most anything from afternoon frocks to bathing suits, evening gowns, sport coats, hats, in fact anything milady wishes, can be found in the enlarged ready-to-wear and millinery department, according to Kidd. New dressing rooms have been added, new, modernistic fixtures installed, new decorations, etc.

In order to meet the growing demand of women patrons, the store has tripled the space allotted to the yardage department. Hundreds of bolts of new yardage have been placed in stock, according to Manager Kidd, new patterns added, and a Simplicity pattern section installed. Here has also been stocked bedding, Cannon towels, sheets and practically everything pertaining to yardage.

"We want the public to come in and see this new Famous with all its new departments," Kidd said, "and we are offering this exceptional Dollar Sale for Saturday to make it profitable for them to do so."

Find Frost Nipped End Off Tail Of Famous Monkey

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Last February's frost in Southern California damaged the citrus crop, blocked the mountain roads and delayed some of the movie companies.

And that wasn't all! It nipped the end off a famous monkey's tail. Carpenters at the California Zoological Society grounds discovered that "Chico," white callitryx monkey, has been shorn of the nethermost joint in his tail. Dr. H. H. Wolfe, treating "Chico," diagnosed the trouble as frost-bite, and diminished the monkey's tail to save the rest of it.

Designate May 22
As Maritime Day

WASHINGTON, (AP)—President Roosevelt has proclaimed May 22 as National Maritime day. The action commemorates the sailing of the steamship Savannah from Savannah, Ga., May 22, 1819, on what was described in a congressional resolution as the first successful trans-oceanic voyage under steam.

Here's Where Mammoth Dollar Sale Holds Sway Saturday

Above is exterior of the Famous Department store which has just enlarged five major departments and has undergone extensive remodeling. Celebration of the event is being held tomorrow.

'TRAPPED' IS ON STATE BILL

Another of Peter B. Kyne's stories, "Trapped," has been made into a film, and tonight it opens at the State theater for a two-day engagement, with Charles Starrett in the starring role.

The story it tells is that of a cowpuncher who avenges his brother's murder. He becomes involved with bank robbers, survives several attempts on his life and helps capture the bandit gang before he untangles the murder mystery.

With him in the cast is Peggy Stratford, Robert Middlemass, Ted Oliver and others.

Chapter No. 2 of "Flash Gordon," based on the newspaper adventure strip of the same name and starring Buster Crabbe, also is on the bill, as well as a Charlie Chase comedy, a color cartoon and a newsreel.

Mrs. McVicar in Charge Famous Credit Accounts

Mrs. Gladys Adams McVicar, manager of office accounts for the Famous store, in charge of monthly, budget and lease accounts, has been in Santa Ana for the past 28 years. The lease accounts are operated on a yearly and 18 months basis. Mrs. McVicar has charge of all store accounts, and is an efficient and well-informed manager. Her long acquaintance

Receive Entries For Ping-Pong

Entry blanks for the Santa Ana ping-pong tournament to be held at the Y. M. C. A. on May 22 are now ready, it was announced today by R. Carson Smith, chairman of the committee on arrangements. Blanks may be had from Smith at his office, 312 North Main street, or at the Y. M. C. A. building.

The tournament will be run in two classes, class A being for those under 16 years of age and class B for those 16 and over. Both men and women may enter. Desirable prizes are offered for the winners.

All the play in this tournament will be by singles. Players will be paired by lot when the entries are in. As the tournament is to be run as a "double elimination" series, every player has two chances to win, and must be defeated twice before he is out of the competition.

The tournament is open to all residents of Santa Ana, to students in the Santa Ana schools and to members of the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. It is planned later on to stage a tournament open to all Orange county, but the present one is limited to Santa Ana.

Entries must be turned in by Wednesday, May 19. The committee will then arrange the pairs for starting play at 2 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, May 22. Tables will be placed in the "Y" gymnasium and proper facilities will be provided.

COMEDY AND DRAMA TODAY

Showing for two days only, a double feature program with "Racketeers in Exile" and "Too Many Wives" opens today at the Broadway theater.

"Racketeers in Exile" is the dramatic story of a public enemy who makes religion a racket and then falls prey to his own false, eloquent teachings. George Bancroft heads the cast as "Big Bill" Waldo, a topflight racketeer, with Evelyn Venable as his home town sweetheart and Wynne Gibson as his big city "moll." Driven to cover by government officers, the racketeer turns to evangelism as a new type of lucrative racket. The results of this enterprise lead the story up to a smashing climax.

The romantic comedy, "Too Many Wives," deals with a hectic love-at-first-sight affair between an adventurous heiress and an ingenious young man who creates jobs for himself where none grew before. One of these jobs, however, brings riotous complications. The cast features Anne Shirley and John Morley.

Short subjects include the new March of Time release, a Grant-Land Rice Sportlite, a cartoon and world news events.

WAR ADMIRAL 9-5 IN DERBY FIELD OF 20

SPORTS Copy-Wrighted

ODDS and ENDS

By PAUL WRIGHT

May becomes September for a couple of hours at the Municipal bowl tonight.

The second spring football game ever to be played in Santa Ana at night is billed between Bill Cook's Dons and Pasadena Junior college. . . . The first conflict was waged before a sprinkling of fans at the Bowl two years ago between the "this year-last year" Saints.

Bill Milligan, tackle behemoth who broke his arm in that tussle, will be in the lineup for the Dons tonight. . . . Forward and lateral passes probably will form the bulk of both clubs' attack.

Admission will be 25 cents for adults and 15 cents for children to help defray Pasadena's traveling expenses.

T. R. (Big Al) Alvord of the business staff leans over our typewriter to whisper, "Pompoon will win the Kentucky Derby."

This department has thought a lot of Al's predictions ever since he picked Azucar in the Santa Ana "cap two seasons ago, but just for argument's sake, we'll say he's wrong tomorrow. Bold Venture pulled at a stunning surprise last year, but the late favorite—War Admiral and Reaping Reward—will finish 1-2 in tomorrow's classic at Churchill Downs. When guessing, you might as well string up the favorites.

Junior Legion baseball for the Saints this summer?

Joe Koegler, S. A. H. S. coach, would like to form a Legion-sponsored nine here, and send his preps against such clubs as San Diego and Long Beach to put some experience behind the boys he will retain for Citrus Belt league play next season. . . . Something may develop next week.

Sam Hayes, famed radio announcer who was guest-speaker at S. A. J. C.'s 163-plate banquet for journalists here last night, told of a football interview with Andy Kerr, one of the coaches of the East-West game annually played in San Francisco. Kerr got off the following prize joke over the air:

The country, Kerr related, has numerous Bowl games—Rose, Sun, Dust, Sugar, etc. There is even a Paradise bowl . . . and a Hades bowl. The Paradise, maintaining it could win with so many points, has cans, challenged Hades bowl to a grudge game. "You may have the players," said the Hades bowl, "but you haven't any coaches."

Broad-shouldered Ray Cokley, Orange youth in three dual meets to lead Santa Ana Junior college's track-and-field team in seasonal scoring with 55 1/2 points. . . . Statistics, dug up by our adjective-slinging assistant, Franklin Guthrie, show Hunter Bob Reif in second place with 40 points. Blas Mercurio had 32, Erwin Youel 28, Capt. Bill Greshner 26, Walt Opp 21 1/2, Harry Stanley and Guthrie (himself) 20, Bob Clark 18 and Willard Luton 17. . . . Others scored less than 15.

FREMONT NINE TRIUMPHS, 7-5

Fremont Grammar school defeated Franklin yesterday afternoon, 7-5, in an inter-school baseball game. Fremont made 15 hits off the Franklin pitchers. The coaches are Frank Billa of Fremont and Howard Paul of Franklin.

LATEST COMFORT FEATURES

Many new conveniences assuring greater travel enjoyment include—raised seating level above road traffic and chassis vibration, giving full-view observation. . . . lowered aisle floor, full-view observation. . . . racks for hats, wraps and hand parcels. . . . improved reading lights. . . . a giant motor, easy chair riding qualities. . . . warm-air heaters, baggage and express compartments concealed by latest streamlining, etc.

Triple 'Main Event' at Tonight's Fights

REESE, SHIVES PERFORM IN TOP SPOTS

Atwood Atom Boxes Ima, Tustin Heavy Tangles With 190-Pounder

By KENNETH ADAMS

The cream of the crop in southern amateur boxing circles will go into action at the Orange County Athletic club tonight when Matchmaker George Stewart stages a triple main event program on an eight-bout card.

Main event No. 1 rematches the tiny Atwood fury, Barney Reese and Ray Ima, 108-pound L. A. Oriental, in a battle that should be a standout. Reese and Ima met a couple of weeks ago in the 101 highway arena in a fight that had fans howling every minute. Reese was given the decision, but many fans thought Ima had won. The matter should be settled tonight.

In main event No. 2 the big bruiser from Tustin, Ernie Shives, will face 190-pound Johnny Otaras from Los Angeles in a scrap that is bound to end up with one of the heavyweights on the canvas. No battle Shives has been in yet has gone the limit. He either knocks 'em out or is smacked out in the attempt.

George Nelson, 175-pound Los Angeles battler, is expected to furnish plenty of stiff opposition for Jack Jones, outstanding amateur from Newport Beach, who has been howling over the best of them in Southern California arenas. Jack will bring 200 rooters with him from the beach city, and they'll expect him to tear Nelson apart.

The semi-windup is a battle that should rate a top spot on any card. Ontario's pride, Tony Mendez, who whipped Everett Jure here, will have the toughest fight of his career when he faces Baby Kid Buddy, black ace from Los Angeles. Stewart said this set will be a sensational pre-tournament bout, the winner of which probably will win the Southern California featherweight title.

The special event will see the popular little fighter, Fat Quilan of Anaheim, launch his comeback when he has it out with Bobby Solis, tough 116-pounder from Los Angeles.

One of the finest 138-pounders hereabouts, Fernie Baca of Ontario, runs into Victor Coxos, L. A., who has been featured in main events in most of the clubs. It promises to be a slam-bang event. Gene (Wildman) Dagupa will mix it with Robert Navarro of Placentia. The curtain-raiser will see Inky Caldwell, hard-hitting negro, from Los Angeles, against the flashy B. Jimenez, Ontario.

Dons Close Eastern J. C. Schedule With Owls At H. S. Tomorrow

Santa Ana Jaycee's baseball team makes its final Eastern conference stand tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock against the second-place Citrus Owls at Poly field.

Three times this season the Dons have come home defeated by narrow margins. Pomona took their measure, 8-7, then Riverside administered a 5-4 defeat, followed by Fullerton's crushing 10-7 win. The monotony was broken last week with the Don nine on the long end of a 10-9 score against Chaffey at Ontario.

Arnold Fickie, the portside moundsman, will be on the slab for the Dons with Duane Teel in the receiving role. The loss of Erwin Youel, who is scheduled to be with the track team, may weaken the infield. Coach Blanchard Besty intends to start pitcher Art Niehaus or Gordon West, outfielders, at short. Vern Rutledge at first, Bob Wilde at second and Hal Jesse at the hot sack will complete the Dons' infield.

Winfield Mackay will replace either Niehaus or West in the outfield, teaming with Bob King and Fred Erdhaus in the outer pastures. Erdhaus or Niehaus will be held for relief hurling.

WAR ADMIRAL

LOU AMBERS 12-5 FAVORITE OVER CANZONERI TONIGHT

COUNTY NINES OFF MAY 20

The Orange County Nightball league, with an eight-team personnel, will begin play Thursday, May 20, Secretary Walt Collins announced today.

A meeting will be called within a few days to draw up a schedule for the following teams: Brea, represented by Virgil Kiger; Yorba Linda, by Milt Covington; Tustin, by George Dearborn; Fullerton, by Sonny Rodgers; Irvine, by Ernie Lagier; San Juan Capistrano, by George Stevens; Olive, by Ben Gelker, and either La Habra or Hill Sugar company.

If Laguna decides to come into the wheel, the league may sponsor two divisions, Collins said.

Country Club In Drive For New Members

One hundred new summer memberships are being sought by the Santa Ana Country club in a drive launched by Bob Fernandez, chairman, and his committee of Ed Holmes, Ben Osterman, Roy Langley and Herb Miller.

More than 30 new members already have been secured, and the club committee feels certain it will attain the goal early under the special rate of $15 for three months. The special summer rate entitles the member to all privileges of the house and grounds except a charge account.

LADIES SHARE GOLF TOURNEY LAURELS

Mrs. J. P. Colburn won a blind-bogey play with a score of 106, after drawing No. 107; Mrs. Paul Hall won low net, 91-24—57, and Mrs. L. W. Bemis high net, 118-9—109, in Santa Ana Country club golf yesterday. Helen Whitmore, from the Victoria club, Riverside, carded a 102-15—87.

Aden, Arabia, is shipping more goatskins to the United States than in recent years.

DON OVALMEN SEEK SIXTH

Fullerton Threatens In All-League Meet On Long Beach Field

While Fullerton, Los Angeles and Glendale are cutting each other's throats for first place in the all-Southern California Junior college track and field meet tomorrow afternoon at Stephen's field, Long Beach, Santa Ana's 10 Dons will strive for a fifth or sixth among a field of 13 teams.

Broad-shouldered Ray Cokley, who led the Don point scorers with 55 this season, will be the main threat in the discus and shotput for Bill Cook's small band.

Santa Ana's timber-topper, Bob Reif, may pick up points in the high and low hurdle races. He is pitted against two 15.3 men in the Western division and two 15.2 competitors in the Eastern conference.

The Don javelin throwers, Harry Stanley and Bob Clark, have hit 162 and 155 feet, respectively, and will be mild threats. Blas Mercurio, who has soared 6 ft. 1 1/2 in. for the Dons, will be up against two 6 ft. 4 in. jumpers from Los Angeles Jaycee, Elson Gaebe, George Griffith and Les Huan also are eligible for the high-jumping event at Long Beach.

Erwin Youel will be hard pressed to repeat his first-place performance in the pole vault. He probably will have a scale 15 feet to win, a height attained by two Glendale athletes last week. . . . Willard Luton may pick up a fourth or better in the broad jump. His best mark is 21 ft. 8 in.

SPURGEON NINE SCORES, 27-10

Spurgeon grammar school's softball club trounced the Jefferson nine, 27 to 10, in a game on the Spurgeon grounds yesterday afternoon. Don Magnuson, Jim Murphy and Barton Wells pitched for the winners.

65,000 Will See Kentucky Classic

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—With no unexpected developments, 20 of the country's outstanding three-year-olds, 19 colts and one gelding, today were entered for the 63rd running of the $50,000 added Kentucky Derby over a mile and a quarter at Churchill Downs tomorrow. Five minutes before the entry book was scheduled to close the expected field of 20 had been accounted for, with Trainer John Greely just getting under the wire with the entry on Burning Star from the Chicago-owned Shandon farm.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—While thousands of turf followers milled today on gaily decorated streets, where only a few months ago flood waters stood several feet deep, nearly a score of the nation's equine royalty awaited the coronation of the Kentucky Derby winner as king of the three-year-olds. Around 2:45 p. m., (Pacific Standard Time) tomorrow, Starter Bill Hamilton will release the barrier, yell "come on," and the 63rd running of the country's most famous horse race will be underway to the accompaniment of the cheers of 65,000 spectators.

A little more than two minutes later, at the end of the mile and a quarter whirl, the winner will have a horseshoe of roses draped around his neck, the fortunate owner will collect upwards of $50,000 and the backers of the victorious horse will rush to the mutual windows to collect.

Expect Record Wagering

More than $1,500,000 may pass through the mutual windows for the greatest play since the days of Reigh Count and Gallant Fox.

The consensus of the experts is that the winner will come from either Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' Milky Way stable or Samuel Riddle's barn, with the latter sending out the favorite in the diminutive War Admiral, a son of Man o' War.

War Admiral will enter the race the only unbeaten horse in the field.

The offspring of "Old Red" is expected to go to the post at odds of close to 9 to 5.

In meeting Mrs. Mars' Reaping Reward and Military, however, War Admiral will be asked to match strides with one horse seasoned by winter racing and another that showed his class as a two-year-old.

Military has made great strides forward in the opinion of Trainer Bob McGarvey since placing second in the Santa Anita Derby. Stable connections figure Reaping Reward to be at tops.

There should, however, be plenty of support for Dellor, the Wheatley Stable's Melodist, Heffly from the Waggoner Brothers' Texas owned "Three D's" stable, Maxwell Howard's Sceneshifter, ace of the pair trained by Earl Sande, and H. J. Louchheim's Pompoon, the erstwhile favorite.

Dellor has indicated he might be a factor, especially if the going is muddy. Melodist comes to the race backed by his victory in the Wood Memorial at Jamaica. He is trained by "Sunny Jim" Fitzsimmons, who saddled Gallant Fox to win in 1930 and Omaha five years later.

Kurtzinger On Favorite

A victory by any of the others, including Mary Hirsch's owned and trained No. 10 would furnish even more of an upset than when Bold Venture won last year and paid $43 for each $2 ticket.

Charley Kurtzinger, the "flying Dutchman" from Louisville who BILLIONAIRE FIRST NAMED CHURCHILL DOWNS, Louisville, Ky. (AP)—E. R. Bradley's Billionaire was the first of the three-year-olds to be named for the Kentucky derby today. His name was dropped in the entry book at 5:35 a. m. (Pacific Standard Time) by Moss Cossman, agent for the stable.

A few minutes later Fred Marshall, acting for Trainer Walter Burrows, followed with the name of Townsend B. Martin's Court Scandal, winner of the Flamingo Stakes at Hialeah Park last winter.

will pilot War Admiral, scored in record smashing time with Twenty Grand in 1931.

Wayne Wright, who just missed out on Brevity last year, will be in Heffly's saddle. Jimmy Stout, tossed from Granville at the start of the 1936 race, will throw a leg over Sceneshifter. In Pompoon's saddle will be Harry Richards, winner of the Santa Anita Handicap with Rosemont. Alfred (Slim) Robertson, a boy who can ride when the chips are down, will be aboard with one horse seasoned by winter racing and another that showed his class as a two-year-old.

STEINKE AND SZABO HERE

Sandor Szabo, Hungarian heavyweight Adonis, risks his Pacific coast championship on Monday night in the feature wrestling match at the Orange County Athletic club, when he meets Hans Steinke, German champion who is undefeated in the local ring.

BUDGET BILL FINALLY IS PASSED

Old Age Pension Laws Are Liberalized By State Legislators

SACRAMENTO. (AP)—Legislative action on the budget of $439,300,000 completed, the legislature turned today to consideration of the Hornblower bill, passed by the assembly last night, the Nielson bill authorizing issuance of revenue bonds for public utility purposes, and consideration of special appropriation measures.

Working until late last night, in an effort to complete work before legislative pay runs out, both houses ran through measures that have been on their respective files for several weeks.

Liberalize Pension Bill
At last night's session, the assembly passed the Hornblower bill, liberalizing old age pension laws and removing the requirement that pensioners must take the pauper's oath, give a lien on property they may own, and providing that all pensions, amounting to $35 monthly, must be paid in full without any deduction for rental, if the pensioner is living rent-free.

In addition, the bill, as passed to the senate, would permit pensioners to receive as gifts, or to earn, $15 above the pension paid, without any reduction being made.

Cost Is High
It has been estimated by the finance department that the budget for this purpose for the next biennium would be $71,000,000. Of this, one-third is a state charge, approximately $19,000,000 is charged against the state and counties alike, and about $31,000,000 contributed by the federal government.

The six-hour day bill by Assemblyman Richie failed passage by a 25 to 30 vote before the lower house, which also defeated the attempt of Assemblyman Yorty to bring from committee to the house floor his bill to permit the operation of pari-mutuel betting machines beyond race track enclosures, under supervision of the California horse racing board.

To Conduct Tour To South America

Reservations for a 74-day tour sponsored by Tours International to South America are being accepted by Julia Ann Hyde, manager of the travel service bureau in the Commercial National bank. The tour will be conducted by A. A. Hauff, contributor to National Geographic magazine, who has devoted much of his time during the past decade visiting little known places in South America. The tour will start at Los Angeles June 15.

The high-spot of the South American tour will be a visit to Machu Picchu, the recently discovered prehistoric "Lost City of the Andes." The ruins are in an almost perfect state of preservation. Other points to be visited include La Paz and Cuzco, and a boat trip on Lake Titicaca, situated 12,000 feet above sea level.

Packard to Talk On Labor Tonight

John C. Packard will speak on "Recent Developments in the Labor Movement" tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the Unitarian church. Horace Head will introduce the speaker. Bill Beeman will play incidental music during the evening.

MORE BY PEGLER

which is such an obvious fraud that even the dog race bettors know at a glance that it is artificial. That means that the pretense must be very apparent, because the dog race gambler, next to the slot machine gambler, is the most glib type that the human race has ever produced.

Nowadays both the dogs and slots operate openly in many localities, either with or without the sanction of the law. In places where they violate the law they pay graft to the dominant political organization or to the prosecutor, sheriff and chief of police individually. Everybody knows all about this, but people are so tolerant now that it is considered quite all right for public officials to sell off the privilege of robbing the citizens.

Morals Relax

The strict morals of the nation began to relax shortly after the war. It may be hard to realize it now but in 1919 New York was a very straight-laced city. Racing was just barely permitted, and was looked upon as a small sin, but betting was illegal and, therefore, more or less clandestine. The ball clubs drew their schedules so as to avoid Sundays in New York, and prize fighting was officially immoral.

Then Jimmy Walker put through a Sunday baseball law and followed this with his prizefight law, two feats of liberal legislation which later made him mayor. His prizefight law permitted round decision bouts, and it almost ruined the fight business in Philadelphia and the nearby Jersey cities which permitted short, no decision fights. At that time fighting was legal in the twin cities of Minnesota and in Milwaukee, but Chicago was not to have fights or racing for several years.

Took a Chance

There were some small fights in Texas, but all persons implicated in these productions took a chance of going to jail for violation of a law adopted by a special session of the legislature in 1898. The Texans were intensely moral in some respects in the wild and woolly days of '98, and when it was proposed to present the Corbett-Fitzsimmons bout there the legislature was summoned for the sole purpose of passing a law against this disgraceful spectacle. So the show was finally moved up into Nevada, whose state motto always has been "anything goes."

Nevada is remarkably honest about such matters. Up to a few years ago Virginia's anti-prize fight law was so strict that even the spectators could be sent to prison, and the possession of a set of gloves could be interpreted as evidence of intent to commit a grievous offense against the peace and dignity of the state.

Good Old Maine

Fifteen years ago it was beyond imagination that Ohio would permit racing with open betting, and these sinful devices seemed to have been cast out of the New England states forever. Since then, however, New Hampshire, of all states, has felt a stir of sporting blood, and has legalized racing with mutuels, and there are tracks in Massachusetts and Rhode Island as well. Massachusetts even has dog races, and good old Maine, which repealed prohibition after many years, gambles in pools on the trotters.

A backward glance reveals that restrictions existed 20 or 25 years ago which would be considered intolerable now. There were contradictions, of course. For example, Chicago, about as tough and incorrigible as any city in American history, endured open gambling, and two notorious patches of brothels while enforcing laws against fights and races. Now Chicago has everything, including nakedness in the shows, and still

BRITISH FLEET ON THAMES

LONDON. (AP)—Britain's home fleet—30 warships—brought a touch of coronation splendor to the old Thames river today and roused its routine of coal barges, tugs, tramp steamers and ocean liners.

Flags flying and escorted by all manner of private craft, the fleet brought back some of the glory of the days when the Thames had an important part in the lives of Britain's kings and queens, when royal barges coasted up and down to royal palaces.

The fleet is scheduled to remain in the Thames until May 12, when it will move to Spithead for the coronation naval review.

BIARRITZ, France. (AP)—Samuel Park, 79-year-old United States vice consul at Biarritz, died today following an operation.

SENTENCE BANDITS

GALLUP, N. M. (AP)—Tom Anderson and G. W. Roberts, of Wasco, Calif., convicted by a jury of robbing Robert Austin, Lubbock, Tex., merchant near here last September, were sentenced to from 20 to 25 years in the state penitentiary today.

Some of the people complain they have to live in slums.

Devotees of burlesque should not take on too hard. This is a new country, and liberties are slowly won, but perhaps in 20 years civilization will have advanced so far that the foulest entertainment of the present day will be regarded as fit material for class entertainment in the public schools. Give us time.

Grand Prelate Is Installed Here

George is spending a short time in Santa Ana, organizing a class of 50 young men to join the order, which is noting an increase throughout the state. And young men between ages of 23 and 40 years, who qualify with the regulations of the organization, and who are interested in becoming members, may apply to Charles B. Weber, 116 East Fourth street.

The club set May 22 as the closing day for entries in the annual exhibition, which is to be held at Bowers Memorial museum in June.

Marines were chosen as the theme for prints to be submitted for analysis at the meeting next month.

Placentia Land Bought by State

For less than three-quarters of an acre of land near Placentia, the state department of public works today agreed in superior court here to pay $1500 to Francis Marion Dowling, Willard D. Ellis, and others.

The price was agreed upon by a stipulation filed in connection with a condemnation action brought to obtain rights of way for the Orangehorpe extension east of Placentia.

Francis Marion Dowling and Bertha Paul Dowling were granted $500 for .009 of an acre. A price of $1000 was placed upon .71 of an acre held by Willard D. Ellis, Walter C. Dean, Charles Parker, the Federal Land bank of Berkeley, Frank R. Hodgson and H. W. Browning.

Hollywood SIGHTS and SOUNDS
By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—If you caught this item in the film trade papers the other day you doubtless began work immediately on a scenario:

"NEW YORK—Condor Productions has purchased screen rights to 'Nine Old Men,' the Pearson-Allyn book about the Supreme Court."

This is merely to go on record with my own scenario.

We open with shots of little Goldie (Shirley Temple) who is theme-songing "Pack, Pack, Pack Your Blues Away" as she dances in the cornfields with Faithful Sam (Stepin Fetchit). After three choruses we have a close-up of Shirley, registering worry.

The Plot Thickens

Ensuing sequences reveal that Shirley worries because her lovely, worthless Uncle Gus (Wally Beery) is a toper.

Home from college rides Buck Benny (Robert Taylor) to reclaim his childhood sweetheart, Schoolmarm Rosie (Barbara Stanwyck) and see what can be done.

That night under the moonlit magnolias Stanwyck tells Taylor she cannot go like this. Taylor tells Stanwyck he cannot go on like this either. Suddenly Taylor's great-uncle Joe, a crotchety old Confederate colonel (Lionel Barrymore) appears and mutters that things have come to a pretty pass.

Enter The Villain
Edward G. Robinson is showering Stanwyck with unwelcome attentions. To make matters worse, Buck Taylor has ridden to Washington to see what can be done.

Finally Bad Guy, really a city gangster hiding out, threatens to take Stanwyck and Shirley for a ride. In desperation Stanwyck packs up everybody and the Goldwyn Girls and rides to Washington.

There the happy group joins Buck Taylor in a colossal night club set.

Then we see Stanwyck and Taylor in a cliche, Bad Guy Robinson in jail, Mischa climbing chandeliers, Shirley saying her prayers, and finally Taylor, beaming at Stanwyck, saying:

"In the morning, dear, we take our troubles to the Supreme Court. I know—at last I know—that something can be done!" (Fadeout.)

SCHOOL NEWS AWARD FOR ANAHEIM

Sam Hayes Talks Here At Annual Jaycee Scribes' Dinner

Anaheim High school's newspaper, the Anoranco, today held its second leg on Santa Ana Junior college's "best all-round high school newspaper" trophy. The paper was awarded the plaque, won first in 1935, last night at the annual junior college journalism banquet in the Green Cat Cafe.

One hundred sixty-three high school, junior college and professional journalists and their guests saw presentation of the annual awards to high school papers and junior college journalism students, and heard Sam Hayes, veteran radio newscaster, explain "radio journalism."

Other Awards
The Brea-Olinda Wildcat News won recognition as the best all-round local newspaper. Other awards were for the best news story, Huntington Hi-Lights; best editorial, Orange Reflector; best feature story, Garden Grove Argyle; and best sports story, Tustin Broadcaster. Judges in the contest were Frank Rospaw, editor of the Placentia Courier; Neil Shaw, city editor of the Register; and Jack Ellwanger, managing editor of The Journal. Presentation of awards was made by D. K. Hammond, junior college director.

John McCoy, assistant director and journalism head at the junior college, presided as toastmaster. He presented keys to the following members of the staff of El Dorado weekly for work on the paper: Frances Was, Gerrie Griffith, Bob Swanson, Dorothy Grisct, Franklin Guthrie, Ray Foster, and Harvey Baker. Special awards went to Alpha Volter, Eleanor Brady, and Jack Gardner for outstanding work on the paper. Vic Rowland, as spokesman for the students, presented McCoy with a desk set.

Welcomes Guests
Neil McDaniel, president of the junior college student body, welcomed the guests, including delegations from Brea, Newport, Anaheim, Valencia, Tustin, Laguna, Huntington Beach, San Juan Capistrano, Orange, Garden Grove and Santa Ana high schools. Robert L. Brown sang two baritone solos and Winifred Crist and Onie Sanders, accompanied by Eleanor Buckles, played a trumpet duet.

Hayes, who recently completed six years of news broadcasting, told of differences between written and spoken news stories, and the factors which make items worth while for radio use. He illustrated pronunciation, selection and delivery methods and recited a number of humorous items from recent news broadcasts.

An air mail and passenger service will connect Tokyo, Japan, and Peiping, China.

Lathrop Junior High News

Lathrop's demonstration school, which formed the program for Public School Week, gave over 400 parents and friends the opportunity to visit representative classes. Teachers who gave demonstration lessons during the evening were Miss Mary Henderson, Mrs. Grace Wolff, Miss Mildred Tummond, Miss Esther Rideout, Miss Lota Blythe, Mrs. Maxine Bryte, Mrs. Sheedy, Miss Henrietta Foster, Miss Bernice Hart, Mrs. Francis Beeson, Mrs. Iva M. Webber, Miss Iva Carl, Miss Ruth Gordon, Miss Edith Cornell, Mr. Orr, Mr. MacQuarrie, Mr. Stover and Mr. Rowley. The Lathrop branch library was open all during the evening with the librarians, Miss Leone Calkins and Mrs. Juanita Lake, on duty, and Mrs. Francis Beeson's social studies class demonstrating the use of the library for reference work. Miss Nora Reid demonstrated the use of the audiometer in detecting hearing difficulties amongst students. All teachers who were not demonstrating acted as hosts and hostesses.

Phyllis Brockbank, Romana Comancho, Patricia Cornelius, Carrol Chittcock, Lavonia Craig, George Cruz, Glenna Jean Deardorff, Mary Doe, Arnold Fenley, Gale Gannell, Jack Glotzbach, Margate Hawk, Betty Hillhouse, Lily Mae McDonald, Susie Morales, Bill Guiley, June Burton, Jimmy Ferren, Randolph Clark, John Acosta and Jean Grubb, assisted Miss Blythe in her literature demonstration class, which was a study of "Boy Life on the Prairie" by Hamlin Garland. Oral book reviews were given during the evening by Carroll Chittcock, who told of "Daniel Boone, Wilderness Scout," Glenna Jean Deardorff, whose choice was "Southwestern Sails," Margaret Hawk, who told of the pranks of Tarkington's "Penrod Jashper," Lily Mae McDonald, whose book was "Gabriel and the Hour Book," Jimmy Ferren, whose choice, "White House Gang" told of Teddy Roosevelt's boys in the White House, and Bill Guiley who gave a favorite Jack London story—"White Fang."

Mrs. Marguerite Hill's high seven literature class has been working on a pageant, which will be presented at the Red Cross Good Will Day in Orange on May 15. "Mother Earth's Children" is the name of the pageant, and its cast will include Billy Bob McPhee, who will give the prologue, Mabel Henderson, Helen Hawkins, Roger Hawell, Paul Aubrey, Gordon

Heath, Edna Requarth, Alfred Haigh, Donata Lundak, Jean McWilliams and Norma Lee.

Ninth grade literature classes under Mrs. Hill's direction are pursuing interesting activities in the study of Scott's Ivanhoe. Last week a debate was held, with the question "Resolved that Rowena was a stronger character than Rebecca." Gertrude Knox acted as general chairman; Willard Keeler represented the negative, and Lois Ernst the affirmative. After the opening arguments, the question was given to the whole class for discussion. The judges awarded the negative side the winner, because of the orderly and convincing arguments presented.

Spring dress-all colors, all kinds, all sizes are occupying the minds of Miss Foster's ninth grade girls these days.

A candid camera day for Lathrop is being planned by several members of the high nine class as a final activity for the year. May 11 and 12, Tuesday and Wednesday, will be the time. Bring your cameras, all you Lathropites, and show your friends themselves as others see them. Snapshots will be turned in to Frances Brando, Florence Grisct, Enid Jones or Miss Blythe for the "Lathrop High-lights."

Girls' basket ball teams at Lathrop must think they're the berries, "because we find that they have named themselves, the Youngberry team, the Strawberry team, the Turnips and the Whippersnappers. Games are played after school by ninth grade girls in Miss Hazel Thrasher's and Miss Esther Rideout's P. E. classes. Scores for competition have been as follows: Whippersnappers, 9; Youngberries, 5; Strawberries, 12; and Turnips, 1.

Orange county farmers felt today that they had won the first point in their battle for getting refunds on their lug boxes, in which produce is delivered to Los Angeles markets.

A party consisting of Secretary R. D. Flaherty of the farm bureau, William Greeley, chairman of the vegetable department of the bureau, Assistant Farm Advisor Ross E. Crane and Art Lindlay, grower, attended a joint meeting of growers and producer merchants in Los Angeles Wednesday.

Out of the meeting came an agreement from the commission merchants that they will name a committee to work with the growers on the problem as the first step toward solution of the problem.

The problem arose when the merchants discontinued making rebates of 3 cents per lug box to about $50,000 a year to Orange county growers.

Air Forces Ready For Coast 'War'

MARCH FIELD. (AP)—Virtually the entire strength of the United States army's air forces was concentrated in Southern California today. A three-weeks "battle maneuver," in which Los Angeles and other strategic Southern California areas will be defended against "enemy" attack, will open Saturday.

Planes of the air force from Selfridge Field, Mich., Barksdale Field, La., and Langley Field, Va., as well as all other army fields, continued to arrive today. Before the maneuvers open, 2000 men and nearly 400 officers will have arrived here.

SENTENCED FOR SLAYING
LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Superior Judge Dudley S. Valentine sentenced Edgar J. Broadus, 50, to 10 years in San Quentin prison yesterday on a plea of guilty to manslaughter in a fatal stabbing of his brother, Frank Broadus, 47.

Four musicians entertained Lions club members yesterday in a special Music week program arranged by Dr. L. C. Cameron, program chairman.

Performers were Erma Baxter Owens, vocalist; Delle Hamilton, pianist; Leslie Phillips, saxophonist, and May Weyer, accordionist.

Draws Ace Of Spades And Dies

SEATTLE. (AP)—Charles H. McGulley drew a card from a deck in a game with two friends and turned it face up on a table. He fell forward—dead.

Coroner's deputies said the card was the ace of spades, called the "death card" by players. His death was attributed to a heart attack.

SCHOOL MUSIC FETE TO BE TONIGHT

400 Student Singers Are To Participate In Program Here

Eight Orange county high schools will pool their musical talents tonight in the sixth annual high school musical festival, to be presented at the Santa Ana High school auditorium in celebration of National Music week. The program will start at 8:15 p. m.

More than 400 student singers and musicians will take part in the event, which will feature performances by a selected orchestra, band, boys' glee club, and girls' glee club.

The magnificent "Hallelujah Chorus" from Handel's "Messiah" will be sung by the mixed chorus, assisted by the orchestra.

Orchestra Numbers

Orchestra numbers, which will open the program with Miss Margaret Squires of Huntington Beach directing, will be Bizet's Intermezzo from "L'Arlésienne Suite," No. 2 and von Weber's Overture to "Oberon."

With D. W. Stover of Santa Ana directing, the combined band will play Gibbs "Carnival Overture," Tschakovsky's "Romance in F Minor," and Whistler's "Stadium Triumph March."

Girl singers will present "The Two Magicians" by Curran.

"Blessed Jesus" from "Stabat Mater" by Dvorak and "Wings" by Fibich-Dies, Leland Green of Garden Grove will direct, and Miss Helen Meyer will accompany.

Song of Man

Bruce Buell of Santa Ana and Richard Briggs of Newport Beach will take solo parts in "The Song of Man" by Kountz, with which the combined boys' glee clubs will open their portion of the program. Other numbers will be "Dedication" by Franz-Daggett and "A Musical Trust" by Clokey. Miss Marie Hiebsch of Newport Harbor High school will direct the glee club, Edna Walker of Newport Harbor and Margaret Davies of Santa Ana will be accompanists. Herbert G. Bickel of Santa Ana will direct the chorus and Miss Margaret Squires will direct the orchestra for the combined mixed chorus number, with Verna Osborn as accompanist.

PENSION PLAN IS GENEROUS

Old age pensioners in California receive the most generous old age security checks in the United States, County Welfare Director Jack W. Snow revealed today. Checks in California average $31.44, while the average in the United States is $18.76, according to a survey Snow has just completed.

Says Balanced Budget Necessary

NEW YORK. (AP)—Discussing the control of the current business boom, F. Cyril James told the annual Wharton Institute "the development of an effective monetary policy of control is impossible unless effective steps are taken to balance the budget and free the money market from the pressure of low-cost financing of governmental deficits."

Away With the Myth of Cupid vs. Career

Husband Possell Aides
Singer Helen Jepson
To Select Clothes

By SIGRID ARNE
(Fourth in a Series)

NEW YORK.—Helen Jepson, the Metropolitan opera's beautiful, blonde soprano, is the leading lady, and George Possell, one of the most famous symphony flutists, is the leading man in this little domestic drama. Really they're Mr. and Mrs. Possell.

They were headed for a sedate Sunday tea. Helen's spring outfit was brought forth. It's a beige suit. That's calm enough, but the accessories make men 80 years old stop in their tracks. There's a huge, garden-affair hat of beige with long, salmon-ribbed streamers down the back. And there are huge salmon-leather gauntlets and purse to match.

Artists in Love

"You might catch cold in that," said Mr. Possell.

"Not me," trilled Helen.

"Isn't it a little too, too?" for Sunday," he added, getting down to the truth.

"Oh-o-o," wheedled Helen. She won. But three blocks from the party she rolled her big brown eyes, and said "Tell the taxi to turn back. You're right. I must change." George shouted. He thought it was cute, because it was Helen. So maybe two "artists" can be married and not tangle in temperamental tiffs. Possell-Jepson, Inc., think so.

They live in a cave of an apartment 10 minutes from the Metropolitan. It's all cream and pastel shades to set off Helen's slim figure. They met about eight years ago when Helen was a pretty voice student.

She's To Make Movie

George's eyes were pleased, but so were his ears. He talked about her everywhere. Radio contracts came. She signed with the Metropolitan, and now she's going to Hollywood to make a film. Possell will cancel his own broadcasting contracts to go with her.

"She's too pretty to be alone in Hollywood," he teases. She teases him waxed mustache in reply.

Fitting out the map seems easy for them. They go to Europe in the summer for special training for Helen. When the "Met" goes out of town in the season George manages to arrange his work for radio and recording companies so he can visit her on week-ends.

When they're at home they make their work something like a chess game. She sings and he listens. If she strikes a rough phrase, he picks it up with the flute and helps with the tempo. When he's working up new music, she hums along. But when he plays—

"Mostly she goes to sleep," grins George.

He Helps Her Shop

To hear them tell it, their really serious business is choosing Helen's clothes. They shop together, and the wise saleswoman pleases George.

"He knows more about clothes than three women," smiles Helen.

"That's right," says Possell.

"Except about his own clothes," she teases. "He wears a derby. I hate them."

"I like them," he grins.

He still attends half her performance after six years of married life. And he goes back stage with penciled notes on a phrase to change or a gesture to refine. She really likes the help.

Rabbits As Hobby

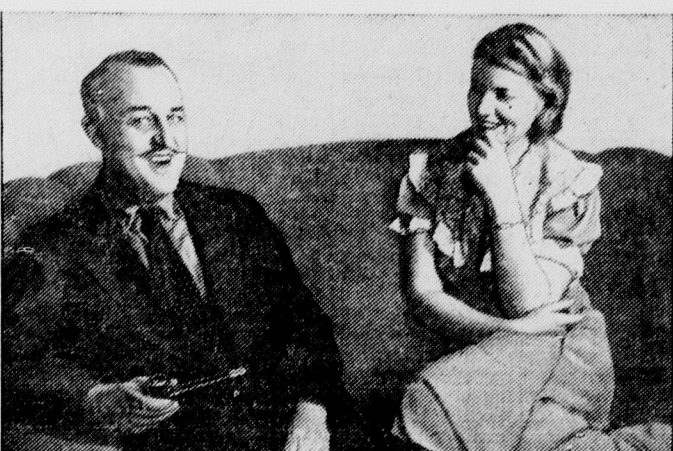

In off hours they have three enthusiasms one very large enthusiasm, and two small ones. The large one is Sally Patricia Possell, four years old, who is cared for by an extremely starched and efficient nurse.

Rare breeds or rabbits which they raise at their lodge 85 miles out of the city are a second enthusiasm. The rabbits are so interesting they may make a business of them.

George started the third enthusiasm when he bought Helen a movie camera for Christmas. Now he takes most of the films because he likes to take pictures of her. "She's so pretty," he explains.

Tomorrow: Sophie and Adam Gimbel.

Senator Talks On 'Power of Woman,' Citing Abdication

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Senator Thomas (D., Utah) referred yesterday to the Duke of Windsor-Mrs. Simpson romance as evidence that "the power of women has not diminished."

Addressing the senate on Mother's day, Thomas remarked that "we have witnessed a mighty king toppled from his throne for a woman."

"Women have done queer things with their men," he said at another point.

He did not mention the principals in the royal romance by name.

Consolidation Of
Three U. S. Home
Loan Groups Urged

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Senator Byrd (Dem., Va.) laid before the Senate yesterday a proposal to consolidate three federal home loan organizations, declaring the merger would save $24,500,000 a year.

His measure would combine the Home Loan Bank board, the Home Owners Loan Corporation and the Federal Housing Administration into a single unit called the Federal Home Credit Administration. The new agency also would supervise the RFC Mortgage Corporation.

One administrator paid $10,000 a year would replace six executives, each of whom now receives that salary. Similar savings would be effected in field and office forces, Byrd said.

Fields Estates
Filed For Probate

The estates of David Dudley Field, Santa Ana rancher, and his wife, Mrs. Edith Haskins Field, whose deaths occurred two days apart early in April, were filed for probate in superior court here yesterday.

Miss Lydia C. Field of Santa Ana, daughter of the couple, asked for letters of administration. She and a son, Ross Haskins Field, are the sole heirs, according to the petition.

Mrs. Field died April 9, leaving $10,000 in oil stocks. Field died on April 11, leaving real estate valued at $10,000.

FOUR FIFTHS OF AVOCADO CROP IN

Calavo Chief Reports
On Harvesting in Southland

Eighty-four per cent of the 1937 season avocado crop is now harvested, compared with 66 per cent a year ago, reports Production Manager B. C. Stephens of the Calavo Growers of California. A total of 7,666,000 pounds of avocados had been harvested to May 1 this season by cooperative growers, compared with 4,400,000 pounds a year ago. Supplies will soon decline rapidly, as but 16 per cent of the total crop now remains.

Greater fruit receipts than anticipated and revised estimates for May have reduced the January freeze loss from 38 to 33 per cent of the total crop indicated last fall, Stephens added. This greater avocado tonnage plus the record sideline business to date this season are held largely responsible for the grower rebate announced last week.

A total of 4,658,495 pounds of avocados were marketed during December through March, and comprise the 358,115 packed flats which will receive the 4 cent per flat refund about May 12. This repays a 4 cent per flat increase made in the marketing costs or "retain," immediately following the freeze, as a safety measure. The marketing retain will be reduced the 4 cents per flat from April through the remainder of the season. The refund, plus a very favorable March final, and the April partial payments will be received by growers at the same time.

During April a total of 1,213,000 pounds of avocados were harvested and delivered by cooperative growers, compared with 1,145,000 pounds in March. This April tonnage was the largest normal-month volume for two years.

BIG HARVEST ASSURED IN STATE

Rainfall and Freeze
Provide a Perfect
Weather Setup

Orange county will have the biggest walnut crop per acre in its history next year.

This prediction was made today by the California Walnut Growers association. Reports from local managers and growers all over the state show that next season's walnut crop will be by far the largest crop of walnuts the state has ever produced.

Record-breaking and well-spaced rainfall which thoroughly soaked the earth to unusual depths, and severe temperatures in January which shocked the walnut trees into complete dormancy resulted in the trees coming out uniformly and setting an extremely heavy crop of fruit.

In fact, the statement was made facetiously by the association sales manager, W. T. Weber, that even the fence posts around the groves were setting a crop.

There are the usual hazards of blight, codling moth, aphid and hot weather, but some of these are not such hazards as formerly, it was stated. Blight control is being carried on with varying success and codling moth and aphid control is so generally organized that damage from these pests is actually becoming negligible, the association officials said.

Hitch-Hiker Goes Far On Just $18.87

CINCINNATI. (AP)—John Moore, grocer of nearby Loveland, O., had a swell coat of suntan, stones from a Mayan temple, a supply of Honduran cigars and $113 today to prove, he said, that "one can hitch-hike to Central America and back in two weeks on $20."

A new squad of police motorcyclists is to be used to give air raid warnings in Spain.

McLAGLEN WILL TALK HERE

Burly Victor McLaglen, the motion picture star and aviation enthusiast, will be in Santa Ana Tuesday night.

He will come here to speak before the Orange county Third Wing of the McLaglen Air Corps at a dinner meeting in the Rossmore cafeteria at 8:30 p. m. Tuesday.

More than 100 are expected to attend the dinner event, including the 50 members of the Orange county squadron, which was organized three months ago.

Several officers from the First Wing of Los Angeles will accompany McLaglen to this city for the meeting, it was announced, to explain in detail the plans and purposes of the aviation organization.

The meeting is part of a comprehensive new plan to expand the scope of the activities in Orange county, local members said.

Purpose of the organization is to teach young men, who are air-minded, to fly at a minimum cost. The local group meets each Tuesday night at clubrooms in the hangar on the field just south of the Martin Airport. Free ground school lessons are given at these meetings.

VISIONS LABOR PEACE HERE

Orange county need not expect a citrus strike this year, but northern California will get more than its share of agricultural labor trouble.

This prediction was made Wednesday night by A. R. Clark, secretary of the Associated Farmers of Los Angeles county, in a talk before some 60 members of the Orange County Peace Officers association and agricultural leaders in Fullerton.

The same leaders who conducted last summer's strike here, he said, are now in the northern part of the state.

Holmes Bishop, local citrus grower, also spoke, criticizing the newspapers for calling growers "vigilantes," when, as he said, they were protecting their own property. He praised the peace officers for their work during labor difficulties. Stuart Strathman of Placentia also spoke briefly on unions.

POLITENESS vs. CLOTHES

It rains so hard in London town that everything gets wet, including dukes and queens and folks of every social set. One day when it was pouring, Queen Elizabeth came around, and had to ask Sir Walter to assist her o'er wet ground. He did. He spread his cloak for her and absolutely ruined it. But Raleigh's coat was poorly cut; he didn't mind a bit. Now if he lived today, and wore a Kuppenheimer coat he'd never make the sacrifice. The queen would get all soaked!

Grand Army Ladies Are Adopted As Mothers By Daughters of Union Veterans

Mothers' Fete Is Given By Daughters

Corsages Decorate Each Place at Tables Set in Church Hall

Half a hundred feminine descendants and close relatives of Civil war veterans enjoyed a delightful banquet yesterday at what has come to be an annual occasion, for once each year Daughters of Union Veterans take the wives of widows of Grand Army men as their "mothers." On that day, usually near "Mother's Day," everything is done in their honor.

Lovely corsages lay at each place on the tables pointed star-shaped, into a central fountain at the First Christian church banquet hall, and bowls of beautiful flowers of all descriptions decorated the centers of the tables.

Mrs. Beren Baker, president of the Daughters, presided over the assembly, and introduced first Mrs. Lena Hewitt who gave a toast to the mothers, which was responded to by Mrs. Retta Campbell. A lovely welcoming song was sung by Mrs. Cora Graham.

Appropriate greetings and comments were issued by Mrs. Laura Brown, Mrs. Elizabeth McLeod, and Mrs. Helen Bennett, and Mrs. Gazette Sharp read three original poems. Musical numbers were rendered by Dorothy and Esther Herman, and by Blanche Owens, and a very interesting history of the Daughters was given by Mrs. Clara McCord, historian.

Grand Army ladies who were guests for the affair were the Mesdames Hannah Maryetta, Emma French, Helen Grass, Cassie Ferguson, Anna Pendleton, Mary Iselle, Angie Taylor, Mellie Vance, Frances Spencer, Loma Darby, Elizabeth McLeod, Garret Sharp, Marietta Philo, Jennie Anderson, Dora Warner, Sarah Brown, Retta Campbell, Rose Barton, Helen Bennett, Mary E. Saylor, Laura Boyd, Lucinda Hamilton, Laura Wilkes, Arnett Thompson, and Kate Sutton.

Daughters of Union Veterans acting as hostesses were the Mesdames Beren Baker, Lena Hewitt, Jennie Johnson, Jennie Lane, Addie Gardner, Addie Cowan, Fannie Nau, Ella Smith, Emma Jamison, Florence Rice, Earl Nelson, Nettie Griswold, Clara McCord, Jessie Hoagland, Elizabeth Smiley, Geraldine Beall, Luella Hill, Ethel Vincent, Violet Wade, Gadsy Ward, Elizabeth Rupert, Anna Sheelin, Thelma Willingham, Cora Graham, Pearl Dawson and Eva Bell. Dorothy Kelly and Fern Hill were special guests.

The delicious banquet was served by the ladies of the church, and hall decorations and corsages were arranged by the Mesdames Minnie Cowan, Ella Smith, Luella Hill, Fern Hill, Margaret Robertson, Geraldine Beall, Anna Cobard, Florence Perry, Addie Cowan, and Beren Baker.

Crowning of Miss Mary J. Huffman as their Queen of the May climaxed the May festival given last week-end at Spurgeon school, with an appropriate program of songs and dances on the lawn.

Third graders of Mrs. Inez McBay's room opened the program, after the coronation, with May songs, and Miss Mary Leonard, undergraders followed with a little skit, "Playfellows of Spring."

Another spring skit was presented by the first and second graders, under the direction of Miss Eva Osborn, Miss Gretchen Lieberman, and Miss Inez Hickman, representing the awakening of the flowers, nipping of the buds by Jack Frost, warm winds chasing the frost away, sunshine, animals, and spring fairies in the garden, and a musical climax.

Second and third graders under Mrs. Luella Graham gave a ribbon drill, fourth graders of Mrs. Alice McVey, a Swiss dance; Miss Virginia Bigelow's fifth graders, an Irish jig; Miss Elsie Carter's fifth graders, a minuet; sixth graders of Mrs. Emily Butterfield, a Spanish dance; Russell Hatching's sixth graders, a Japanese dance; and Mrs. McBay's third graders, a Maypole dance.

Mrs. Vallyley Here Again Monday

Public affairs will be of three-fold importance to Santa Ana Ebell members next Monday afternoon—first in their program, secondly in their tea hour which will follow, and thirdly in the committee which will have charge.

For their program, the club will have another afternoon of book reviews and comments on current events by Mrs. Jack Vallyley—public affairs of the world.

The tea at the end of the afternoon will be given as a benefit for the Santa Ana Junior college loan fund—public affairs of the city.

The committee in charge will be the public affairs committee, Mrs. Robert Tuthill, chairman; Mrs. B. H. Sharpless, Mrs. Roy Shaffer, Mrs. C. F. Smith and Mrs. J. W. McCormac, who stage this event each year for the loan fund—public affairs of the city.

Books chosen by Mrs. Vallyley for her May appearance in Santa Ana are as follows:

"Collectivism, a False Utopia," by William Henry Chamberlain; "We Can Defend America," by Major-General John H. Hago; "Why Was Lincoln Murdered?" by Otto Eisenschiml; "An Actor Named Moliere," by Dussane; "A Vermont Boyhood," by Thomas Emerson Ripley; "A Woman Surgeon," by Rosalie Slaughter Morton; "Army Without Banners," by Ernie O'Malley.

"My India," by Lillian Luker Ashby; "Denmark, Kingdom of Reason," by Agnes Rothery; "The Outward Room," by Millen Brand; "George of Weldon," by Robert Ryland; "Buckskin Drawings," by Phil Stong; "Contract Bridge," by J. Gordon Allard; "First Editions and How to Tell Them," by H. S. Boutell.

The theme for her program will be the following quotation from Chamberlain: "Patrick Henry's flaming phrase, liberty or death, is a sober statement of the alternative that confronts civilization in the twentieth century."

MAYFLOWER MOTIF MARKS CLUB PARTY

Flowers, the theme of the month of May, were the theme of Miss Lucille Howell's party Wednesday night when she entertained members of her bridge club in her home on East Walnut street.

Reflecting the hues of the real flowers in vases through the rooms were the flower motifs in cards, tallies, and the other bridge appointments.

A lovely bouquet of roses drew the attention in the living room and Japanese primroses in a low bowl, flanked by tapers of pale pink, centered the dining room table, with Canterbury bells and Syringa in another bouquet in a corner of the room.

Miss Norma Wilson received first prize, a box of brown stationery and bottle of brown ink, and each of the guests was presented with tiny vials of perfume as favors. The club also presented a gift to Mrs. Douglas.

Present as guests of Miss Howell were Mrs. Claude Williams, Mrs. Palmer Stoddard, and Miss Katherine Sexton of Los Angeles; Misses Erlene Farmer, Norma Wilson, Betty Vorce, and Mesdames Jack Rime, Douglas Perry, Robert Smith, Ernest Hill, Jim Portlock, and Mrs. Bill Dawson of Napa.

MAY EVENTS ARE SCHEDULED

Plans for several pleasant get-togethers were made Wednesday by members of the auxiliary to Jack Fisher chapter, D. A. V. On May 12 they will have an all-day sewing session and covered dish luncheon at the home of Mrs. Van Leonard Brown, 917 Louise street, and on May 16, they and their families will attend an eighth district meeting and will have a picnic lunch at Fairmont park.

A visit to San Fernando which was scheduled for this coming Sunday was indefinitely postponed because of Mother's day.

After their business session, members joined the chapter to enjoy a musical program presented by Horace Ritner, Miss Genevieve Eustis, Lester Phillips and May Weyer.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Harry D. Edwards with the assistance of Mrs. Olga Wood.

Friends Give Personal Gifts

Miss Grace Anderson, who will be married July 2 to Walter Templeton of Los Angeles, was honored at a surprise lingerie shower this week at the home of Margaret Young, with Cleora Fine and Mrs. Robert Lufbery as co-hostesses.

The home was lovely with blue and white iris from the gardens of the Milan Miller home next door.

In keeping with the bridal theme was the evening's diversion, hearts, prizes in which went to Mrs. Henry Onsted, high; Mrs. Tom Pangle, second, and to Mrs. Vern Schaeffer, low.

After the games, Miss Anderson and the other guests were invited to the dining room where gifts were arranged around a bowl of stocks and tall white tapers on the long table.

Miss Anderson was presented with a lovely corsage of blue and white iris. After she had opened the gifts, the guests went back to the small tables which had been spread with white cloths and centered with bubble bowls with blue and white flower arrangements. Dainty refreshments were served.

Guests included Mrs. Edward Miller of Wilmington, Mrs. Tom Pangle and Mrs. Robert Allen of Fullerton, Mrs. Kenneth Hill of Anaheim, Mrs. Michael Reid of Long Beach, Mrs. Vern Schaeffer, Mrs. Donald Baldwin, and Miss Louise McBride of Los Angeles, Miss Blanche Siegel of Costa Mesa, Miss Marion Dickey of Newport Beach.

Mesdames Robert Moore, Carl Lacy, Joseph May, Henry Onsted, Verlin Anderson, Christine Anderson, Virgil Reid, Everett Lutz and Gerald English, and the Misses Rose and Helen Allen, Jeannette Jorgensen, Edna Mae Heim and Grace V. B. Anderson, were here.

Plans for the coming nuptials were first made known to friends of the couple last month, and this week's party was the second of the pre-nuptial courtesies being given for the bride-to-be.

Mrs. V. B. Anderson, a sister-in-law, entertained last week at a linen shower in her home on Louise street, 22 guests participating in the evening of cards and the refreshment hour.

Miss Anderson, who is the daughter of Mrs. Christine Anderson of 529 South Shelton street, has lived in Santa Ana for 14 years and is a graduate of the local high school. She has been employed in the offices of her brother, V. B. Anderson, since her graduation.

Mr. Templeton, her fiancé, attended Long Beach Junior college, and is now employed by the Prestolite company in Los Angeles.

TWO CLUBS ARE GUESTS OF MRS. WALKER

Mrs. Edward Walker was hostess to her two dessert bridge clubs this week in her home at 525 East Chestnut street, serving a one o'clock dessert course on both occasions and centering her tables and decorating the rooms of her home with lovely roses.

On Monday, her guests were Mrs. Ella June Lapiere, Mrs. Margaret Barnes, and Mrs. Nan Dale, the latter holding high score in the foursome.

The other club met in her home Tuesday, with Mrs. Asa Hoffman winning high score and Mrs. Lucy Hollinger of Pasadena, second. Three tables were in play.

BLUE AND GOLD CLUB MEETS

Members of the Blue and Gold 4-H club met with John Barnes at his home on East Seventeenth street Wednesday night, with Ross Crane of the farm advisor's office and Bruce Johnson in attendance.

Discussion of club work and pictures pertaining to it were on the evening program, during which an invitation was extended to the members to attend the Farm Bureau picnic May 15.

Mrs. E. A. Barnes, mother of the host, served strawberry shortcake at the end of the evening to the 15 members present.

MODEST MAIDENS

By Don Flowers

"She got that way from curling up with a good book!"

The Friday Afternoon

By DONALD BUTTON

Ceramic in the form of the Robineau traveling exhibit takes the May spotlight at the Los Angeles museum.

Local interest centers upon the bowls of Robineau prize-winner, Glen Lukens, now professor of ceramic at U. S. C.

By way of explanation, each year Syracuse university stimulates interest in ceramics by conducting a competition, an exhibition, of work in that medium. It is marked by the awarding of the William Robineau prize to the outstanding work, or group.

Recipient Lukens, one here felt, was indeed worthy of the honor. Stimulus of interest in a truly American craft, creator of fine form, of indescribably subtle glazes, he has been prime mover in the return to the ceramic arts.

The Lukens shapes shown are glazed in his Persian turquoise, a color so lovely, so priceless that the only two copies of the formula are kept under lock and key.

With them is the outstanding work of other American ceramists. You'll find the variety of expression stimulating. See it!

The amazing recovery of California from winter cold is emphasized, surely, in the profusion of flowers now blooming.

Gardens are at their loveliest with roses seeming to strive to outdo themselves, and the wild-flower show has been magnificent. It is truly a bounteous season.

Beginning Tuesday next, the library shows natural color photographic prints of the California wild flowers by Luster E. Martindale.

Each print, as previously related, becomes authentic record through Martindale's matching of color to the plant, or flower photographed.

Add to that the excellence of composition, the completeness of his collection, and the results are very worth seeing.

Interest is given to current showing from the library collection by the recent attractive remounting of all the plates shown.

In spring, schools' thoughts turn to exhibitions. For then they must give public evidence of their progress through the year.

Pomona college opened its annual exhibition of students' work done under the direction of Thomas M. Heggs last Saturday, coincident with the annual May day celebration.

Representing students' expression in a variety of mediums, it is dominated, so I feel, by the portraits in oil by Lucille Wolfe of Santa Ana.

Miss Wolfe, Pomona college senior, came to this country two years ago from China, her parents being missionaries. What she had experienced, observed, is reflected in her painting.

On still another school front, Frederick Elk, U. S. C. architectural senior, makes good showing. Fred was awarded first prize in

Trio Honors Two Former Residents

Two former residents of Santa Ana, both of whom were affiliated with the Daughters of Union Veterans during their absence here, and both of whom are visiting in the city at the present time, were honored by some of their former friends at a party this week in the home of Mrs. Esther Gardner on Orange avenue.

The honor guests were Mrs. Mary Finch of Grand Rapids, Mich., who has been a guest at the Gardner home since early in January, and Mrs. Cora Hoffman of Denver, Colo., who has come for an indefinite stay. Mrs. Finch will leave for home, by way of San Francisco, next Tuesday.

Mrs. Beren Baker and Mrs. Lena G. Hewitt were co-hostesses with Mrs. Gardner in the courtesy, planning an evening of cards and other games and serving refreshments at the close. Reminiscences of their early days together in the city were also enjoyed as a part of the evening. Guests, besides the two who were being honored, were the Mesdames Addie Gardner, Mae Thomas, Florence Perry, Margaret Robertson, Clara McCord, Luella Hill, and Margaret Church, Dr. and Mrs. H. MacVicker Smith, Misses Minnie and Addie Cowan, A. Spencer, Nina June Robertson, and Fern Hill, and the three hostesses and E. M. Gardner, husband of one of the trio.

PHI OMEGAS ENTERTAINED BY PRESIDENT

Mrs. Lester Boyle, president of Phi Omega sorority, presided over a meeting of the group Wednesday night in her home at Laguna Beach, arranging bridge games as the diversion of the evening and awarding prizes at the close to Mrs. Ronald Vincent, high, and Miss Jane McBurney, low.

Strawberry short cake and coffee were enjoyed late in the evening in a setting of sweet peas and poppies which were arranged around the rooms.

Members present were the Mesdames Ruth Wasson, Annie Tucker, Gertrude Vaughn, Ruth McBurney, Jane McBurney, and Jean Upshall, and the Mesdames Ronald Vincent and Lester Boyle.

I. T. U. AUXILIARY

I. T. U. Auxiliary will elect officers when it meets at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday at the home of Mrs. W. M. Graybiel, 912 South Parton street.

Jaysee Coeds In Spring Dances

Two of the jaysee service groups, the Spinsters and the Moors, are having dances tonight, both repeating traditional affairs which always highlight their spring social calendars.

Forty-two couples are expected to attend the annual Moos dinner dance in Las Ondas cafe in Laguna Beach. The dinner, a formal affair, will begin at 7:30 o'clock, and the dancing will begin at nine.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. McCoy, Miss Lucinda Griffith, and Stewart Carrier will be the patrons and patronesses for the event. Mrs. McCoy and Miss Griffith will be presented corsages as gifts of the club.

Both regular and alumni members of the service club were invited, and the dinner was planned under the direction of Margarite Denni, and Erna Swartz, club president, was in charge of the music.

A spring setting was chosen by the Sisterhood of Spinsters jaysee service club for their patrons and patronesses for the event. Mrs. McCoy and Miss Griffith will be presented corsages as gifts of the club.

Refreshments of punch and cookies will be served late in the evening by the refreshment committee, LaVonne Frandson, chairman, Jane King, Gloria Kirchner, and Virginia Shepard.

Arrangements for the music were made by Virginia Scott, Virginia Wilson, MaryAnne Newcomer, and Wadine Siler.

Elaine McReynolds was chairman of the jaysee service club, assisted by Betty Hammond, Marjorie Kenyon, and Delpha Wollett.

GARDEN SECRETS

By WILLIS CADWALLADER
Of Blanding Nurseries

"The buds have broken on every bough;
The world is sweet with laughing sun.
The hills are white with promise now
Spring has begun."
—Charles H. Town.

The perennial garden may be divided into seasons of bloom, and the spring flowering group will cover those that bloom prior to the first of June. Now is the time to consider how you want your garden to look next spring.

In our southern California gardens certain spring flowering plants would be considered as summerflowering plants elsewhere. We have the advantage of fall planting without loss by winter freezing.

Those of the more common varieties such as snapdragons, stock, phlox, cornflowers, and so on, are planted in the garden from seed beds in the fall, and by January we can see the results. By April our gardens are a riot of color.

The spring flower garden can be treated as an individual bed or as a means of continuity of bloom in the general flower garden. Long narrow beds are better than block shaped beds, because they do not show up so readily as unsightly features when the flowering season is past.

Flowers For Spring Bloom
Among the annuals for January bloom are the lavender primrose, cornflowers, calendulas, stocks, pansies, violas, nigella, etc. Of this group the seed may be sown in August and the plants set into the garden by October or November. If the perennial plants of violets, English primroses, saxifrage, forget-me-nots are set out in October or November flowers may be expected by January.

The above-mentioned plants will continue on into February, rounding out a long, early spring season.

For March color among the annuals seed may be sown under glass in December, and the plants set in late January. These flowers will include cornflowers, calendula, chrysanthemum, snap dragons, forget-me-nots, primula, nigella, etc., stocks, pansies, violas, candytuft, and nasturtiums. Among the perennials receiving similar treatment are included sweet alyssum, yarrow, penstemon, ivy, scabiosa, and hollyhocks.

For April and May bloom the plants may be set out in February. African blue daisy, clarkia, calceolus, delphinium, larkspur, lobelia, nemesis, pansies, nasturtiums, violas, poppies, petunias, primulas, snapdragons, calendula, stock, godetia, baby blue eyes, candytuft, phlox and salpiglossis can be handled thusly.

For late spring bloom, perennials may be set out from January to early March, such as alyssum, coriopsis, poppies, salvia, scabiosa, violets, penstemon, polyantha primrose, daisy, columbine pinks, geum, English daisy, Sweet William, carnation, begonia, shasta

News About El Toro Folks

By MRS. CARRIE G. DREWS

El Toro folk are sorrowing over the loss of one of our very good neighbors, Harvey W. Swartz, who died last Sunday evening. He had lived in and about El Toro ever since coming to California in 1892, dry farming all the while. In recent years he replaced the apricot orchard near his home with orange trees. He has always been a very good husband and father, and will be greatly missed by the whole community. Pallbearers at his funeral Wednesday were Aaron Bohelm, Harvey Bennett, Frank Shinner, Raymond H. Prothero, Harry Pieper, and Milo Stevens.

Mr. and Mrs. Eph Prothero and daughter Charlotte have moved back to Tustin, their recent home. Eph lived in El Toro when a young man.

Mrs. Harvey Bennett and daughter Evelyn attended the May Masque at Pomona college Saturday as guests of Beverly Bennett. The Masque is an annual affair given by the Associated Women Students of Pomona college.

Egg Souffle Is Good And Cheap

By JUDITH WILSON

Now that eggs are so inexpensive I hope you will try some souffles and their homely cousins the fondues. These nourishing dishes are so delicate in texture, so expensive to look at, so nourishing and flavorful, I am sure you will like them.

This is an ideal way to serve fish, vegetables and cheese. There are also dessert souffles and fondues of which I am giving you some recipes.

All light fluffy mixtures should be baked in a pan of hot water and your oven must be slow so the water in the outside container never boils. If you have an oven control, set the thermostat for 325 or 350 degrees. The exact baking time will depend on the depth of the mixture in the baking dish. After baking for about 40 minutes, test by inserting a silver knife in the center. When done the knife blade will come out clean.

Rice and Cheese Souffle
Make 1 1/2 cups white sauce. Add paprika to season then 1 1/2 cups cooked rice and 1 1/2 cups American cheese put through a food chopper. Stir until the cheese is melted. Beat the yolks of 3 eggs and fold into the cheese and rice mixture. Fold the mixture into a stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into a well-oiled baking dish, set in a pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven about 30 minutes. Serve with crusty bread, a salad or pickles and a fruit dessert.

It was not until they were actually in the church hall and two beautiful birthday cakes were brought in that they realized they were guests of honor at the delicious dinner. Lovely flowers decorated the long table, and Glenn Layton made an effective speech of welcome. Miss Ruth Miller was general chairman.

Swag Curtains You Can Make Yourself

Don't they look luxurious? But these new two-fabric curtains are as easy to make as the peas-in-a-pod kind.

One half the gay pair is chintz, brightly flowered in willow green and amethyst; the other half, egg-shell net. Both chintz and net are edged with knife-pleated ruffles you buy ready-made.

To get those graceful lines into your chintz curtain 1 1/2 times the inside width of the window. Cut the net curtain twice the inside width.

Gather the curtains so they'll hang in even folds. Then fasten the gathers to tapes. You can run rods through the tapes or fasten them to a valance board.

For tie-backs and valance-like finish, use more of the willow green plaid.

Our 32-page booklet shows you each step in the making of smart draperies, pinch pleats, valances. Send 10c for your copy of How To Make Curtains and Draperies. The Journal, Home Service, 117 East Fifth street, Santa Ana.

Mary Stoddard No One Person Has Monopoly on All the Virtues, Observes Ex-Waitress

By MARY STODDARD

According to another letter from "Ex-Uniform Girl" she was really "blowing off steam" about generalities when she wrote us her jaundiced opinion of mankind last week. Since reading the many replies to her assertions, she has decided that maybe she was really unjust about her assertions as to the licentiousness of men toward waitresses. And yet where there's smoke there's fire, even though the person who reports the fire doesn't always strike the match.

Dear Miss Stoddard: I never intended to write a severe (and I do not think my letter was) unjust. I wasn't speaking of men individually; I meant the attitude of men toward the girls. You know men do try to be Don Juans occasionally. But why put all the blame on the girls? Why did your wife have to show certain types that she would have nothing to do with them, E. R. M., if there wasn't the approach to guano against? Let me say here and now, I was only hoping men might understand a little more.

As to myself, both of you thinking I am one of those who continually snare, you are both very wrong. I am anything but that type. I feel quite well qualified to run a close race to the very nice virtues you penned for your wife. There are many others among the working girls and women who deserve them as well. No one person has a monopoly on all the virtues. I think there are plenty to go around.

As to respect: Personally I feel certain no woman has received more exemplary treatment from men than has been my humble lot. I'm sure many of my former customers would be shocked to hear that I had such ideas of them in general, but I only write in the abstract. Maybe I thought I was a Crusader, but from the two letters of E. R. M. and "Casual Observer" didn't you ever find yourself with a situation you weren't master of? There are times you know when as a hostess you might have let in the wrong guest, or miscalculated, as it were. If he were the nice guest you thought he was in the beginning you wouldn't have put him out would you?

He might even leave a little reluctantly, but with good grace, I am sure. Sometimes I think the hobby of understanding people, sprinkled with a little tolerance (there I would have to use that word) can be a most interesting, useful, and useful too.

I have heard that people who were always chasing hobbies were in reality trying to escape something. Understand, I don't know. I wasn't trying to take a feather out of your cap. Merely wondering if you were careful in the count.

Miss Stoddard, I only hoped for a little retaliation. 'Tis said, "To make excuses for yourself is to admit your guilt," but I felt I was painted a little too deeply. I only wanted to remove some of the paint.

Surely the person who reports a fire doesn't always light the match, do they? Maybe, too, after you reach your early thirties you want something substantial. I hope for a day, even tho I'm a mother and father to my children. I've worked hard, attended night school, I attend lectures, church, too; read a great deal, and I'd like to know of women who have reached a definite goal after 30. I hope to.

However, the ride is over. It's nice to have met you all Sub Rosa.

EX-UNIFORM GIRL.

Skin Tonics Determine Make-Up

By JACQUELINE HUNT

Today, with "be natural" the watchword, cosmeticians have developed cosmetic shades that are as subtle and lovely as those of an ideal skin with its own rosy flush. Now a woman can use color as it should be used—to deepen and accent her own natural coloring.

The way you use your cosmetics is important, but even more important is the shade you use. Do not choose light make-up shades because you have naturally blonde curls or blue eyes—your skin may be the warm creamy type that takes such a gorgeous suntan in the summer and light make-up would obscure your natural beauty.

Of you may have a skin like porcelain and black hair with blue, brown or green eyes and dark lashes. Your rouge and lipstick should be the clear light red and your powder a misty eggshell tint that enhances your skin and gives it a silken quality. A powder that is a little too dark for a lipstick that is too vivid would cast shadows and make your delicate features and striking color contrast less glamorous.

You may belong to still a third type—those with pinkish skins. The pinkish skin may range all the way from the delicate pink and white complexion of many natural blondes to the florid or the deep olive tones. Such a skin requires bluish red rouge and lip color, and a rosy or ochre powder, depending on the depth of the skin coloring.

The very fair-skinned girl would require a flesh shade of powder and soft rouge and lipstick. The girl with deeper skin tones would be lovelier with a rosy beige shade that harmonizes and helps to one down her color if it is too high, and white dark-skinned girl would need a deep dull powder shade called "ocher." For the latter types a russet rouge and lipstick that contain both rosy and brownish tones would be flattering, although girls with this coloring can also experiment with some of the more vivid red shades.

I COVER the SENATE

By
SEN. HARRY WESTOVER

Last Friday the senate wound up its legislation on the Olson oil bill. Because of the fact that Senator Olson was not able to get the necessary votes he deleted the emergency clause in the senate with the idea of having the assembly reinstate the emergency provision. While the bill was in the assembly, Assemblyman Tommy Kuchel introduced an amendment providing that the city of Huntington Beach should obtain a royalty of two one-thousandths from the development of the pool. In other words, the city of Huntington Beach will obtain $2.00 out of every $1000 paid in royalty.

While the bill was in the senate, it was decided in a conference with Senator Olson that no attempt would be made in the senate to write an amendment to the bill providing for a part of the royalty to go to Huntington Beach. The vote was so close in the senate that such a provision might have killed the bill. However, Senator Olson agreed that such an amendment might be inserted in the bill in the assembly. Not only did Senator Olson agree to the insertion of the amendment, but he actually wrote it for Assemblyman Kuchel. Senator Olson is of the opinion that the amendment, as written, is constitutional, the opinions of the attorney general and the legislative counsel, notwithstanding.

After the amendment of the bill and its adoption in the assembly, the bill returned to the senate for concurrence in the amendments. A last minute attempt made by Senator Wagy to defeat the bill in its final form was voted down in the senate last Friday morning with the consequence that the bill was then sent to the governor for signature. It is the understanding around the capitol that the governor will sign the bill and as it carries an emergency clause, it will not be subject to referendum and will go into effect immediately.

The assembly and the senate are not very sympathetic towards long speeches. That member of the legislature who can boil down his arguments to a few minutes duration is to be commended. The assembly this year is particularly penalized because of long-winded speeches. Too many members of the assembly want to speak upon every measure and are not content unless they speak for long periods of time. There seems to be no way to limit the speeches in the assembly with the consequence that the assembly is getting further and further behind in its work. Short speeches are always appreciated. The debate on the Olson oil bill last week in the assembly was the inspiration of the prize short speech of the week. It was made by Assemblyman Pelletier of Los Angeles and was as follows:

"The senate is not very liberal. And you know, Senator Olson is not very reactionary. So when Olson and the senate can get together on anything, it must be a damn good bill."

If the senate has its way the legislature in the future is to be nonpartisan. During the past week the senate, by a vote of 23 to 14, sent Senator Schotky's bill to the assembly providing for a non-partisan legislature. The fight against the bill was led by Senator Olson of Los Angeles, a Democrat, and Senator Knowland of Alameda, a Republican. Senator Knowland attempted to have introduced amendments which would make all elective offices in the senate nonpartisan. The bill will probably receive scant consideration in the Democratic controlled assembly.

There are a certain number of assemblymen who are not certain that they could be returned to the assembly upon a nonpartisan ticket. However, as long as they can keep the election upon a partisan basis and obtain the Democratic nomination, they feel sure of their jobs, for a while at least. The non-partisan legislature has merit according to Senator Knowland but, inasmuch as it would disrupt the organization of political parties in the state, he objected to it upon that ground.

The senate last week made short

KIN ACCUSED OF STEALING HUGE SUM

$220,000 Stolen From Denver Woman; Her Nephew Arrested

DENVER, (AP)—The theft of more than $220,000 in cash and bonds from an elderly Denver widow has been disclosed by Thomas F. Morrissey, federal district attorney.

Morrissey said the money and bonds were stolen from the home of Mrs. Martha Blous, widow of the late Aaron Blous, while she was visiting in New York early in April.

The district attorney said Mrs. Blous' nephew, J. Turner Watson, 25, a former Denver university and Colorado university medical student, is under arrest on a warrant accusing him of the theft.

Many Huge Bills
The stolen money included 108 $1000 bills, 250 $100 bills and $3700 from a savings account. Morrissey said the bonds included $80,000 in government bonds and $600 in Denver municipal bonds. The bills were in the Blous' home.

He said the money had been secreted by Mrs. Blous in a tin bucket in the basement of her Capitol Hill home. The search for Watson, he said, was pushed to such vacation resorts as Bermuda, Honolulu and Sun Valley, Idaho, as well as New York.

Held Aboard Ship
Morrissey said when Mrs. Blous returned from New York April 24 she found the tin bucket empty, her safety deposit box in a downtown bank had been rifled and a savings account in another bank, totaling $3000 withdrawn.

The district attorney said the widow's savings were taken through the use of a forged withdrawal slip. The stolen cash and bonds, Morrissey said, represented virtually the woman's entire estate.

He disclosed Watson is being held aboard a ship which is scheduled to dock at Los Angeles Sunday.

work of the budget. The assembly finally got around to the place of passing on the budget and it was passed with certain modifications on to the senate last Monday. The senate finance committee had an executive session last Thursday morning and prepared a report recommending to the senate that the budget be accepted as agreed upon by the assembly. One objection was expressed upon the floor against on immediate consideration, but the steam roller was put into operation and all opposition was flattened, with the result that the budget was accepted within an hour after it had been presented on the floor of the senate. The governor has a right to delete any item appearing in the budget and those institutions which demand more money than allowed in the budget will have to look to special appropriation measures. If there is any delay in the adjournment of the legislature, that delay will have to be placed upon the shoulders of the assembly, as the senate acted with the greatest expediency in getting the budget out of the way.

The budget had no more than been accepted before Senator Rich of Marysville presented a resolution that the legislature adjourn sine die on May 14. As predicted in these columns, as soon as the budget was disposed of, the cry would be "when do we adjourn?" The senate says May 14. This date has to be agreed upon by the assembly. If adjournment is agreed upon by May 14, many bills now in the legislature will die a natural death. The state, according to Senator Rich, will probably be better off if many of the bills which cannot be passed by May 14 never become laws.

Night session and overtime work will now be the order of the day in the legislature and "when do we go home" may become an actuality on May 14.

Fear Film Stars Were Exposed To Smallpox

POMONA, (AP)—Health Officer M. U. Stoneman revealed he had learned that an entire Hollywood motion picture company, including Dick Powell and Fred Waring, orchestra leader, may have been exposed to smallpox while working in motion picture scenes on Pomona college campus recently.

Stoneman began checking a report of classmates that a junior high school girl, now a smallpox victim here, obtained autographs from members of the film company just before she became ill.

With Powell when the scenes were being made here were Mabel Todd, radio star; Sterling Hollo-

Borah Battles Fascism Threat

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Senator Borah (R., Ind.) in a senate speech denouncing Fascist military tactics in Ethiopia and Spain, said yesterday Fascism was a more dangerous threat to American democracy than Communism.

The Idaho senator, long a student of foreign affairs and senate spokesman on the subject, attacked both Fascism and Communism, asserting both were at war with democracy.

Seek To Restore Retired Officers

WASHINGTON, (AP)—A senate subcommittee has approved legislation to restore certain World War emergency officers to the retired list.

The veterans bureau has estimated about 3200, cut from the list by the 1933 economy act, would be reinstated.

The committee also recommended renewal for five years of veterans' term insurance now in force.

Blind Newsboy Misses Own Bath By Eight Blocks

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Robert H. Epperson notified police at 4 a. m. that a stranger was using his bath tub.

Police found "Blind Tony," a newsboy, in the Epperson home, preparing his bath and vigorously protesting his inability to find the soap and towels.

Tony had missed his own home by eight blocks. A few minutes later he started his bath preparations all over again—this time in the right tub.

Minskys Drop Burlesque Shows

NEW YORK, (AP)—The noted brother impresarios of the strip-tease, Herbert and Morton Minskys, planned today "a high-class variety revue" of negro entertainers for each of their four former burlesque houses.

The designation "former" is correct, the Minskys asserted, and strictly in conformity with last Saturday's New York ban on burlesque shows.

"We were told to close and we closed," said Morton Minsky. "We tried to elevate burlesque and see what it got us. Our new show will be more on the revue type."

ESTATE LOSS IS SHARED BY HEIRS

Court Decides Kin of Greenwald Have No
Prior Rights

Relatives of Norman Greenwald have no prior right over non-relative beneficiaries under his will to receive payments from his quarter-million-dollar estate, Superior Judge G. K. Scovel ruled yesterday afternoon.

R. C. Mize, attorney representing a group of relatives, gave notice of exception to the ruling in order to pave the way for a possible appeal. He said he did not know definitely whether an appeal will be taken to the higher courts.

To Share Loss?

Relatives, represented by Mize, L. A. West, and other attorneys, contended that Greenwald did not intend relatives to share the loss if the estate dropped in value below the amount of bequests.

Yesterday's hearing was at the request of the First National bank in Santa Ana, which was appointed executor after the death of Harry Ball, executor. The bank asserted there was a controversy between the relatives and non-relatives, and asked advice from the court.

Holdings of the estate, originally valued at $303,741.70, have been in a process of liquidation since Greenwald's death in 1930. Principal holdings are in the Floral Park section of Santa Ana, which has been converted recently into one of the city's first home sites.

The estate has decreased in value to $225,449.86, some $20,000 less than the amount of the bequests, which total $245,000, the bank declared.

Early Settlement

Relatives who claimed they were entitled to payment in full before other beneficiaries were paid are Herbert R. Greenwald, an uncle, who was named for $10,000; Harold H. Greenwald, a cousin, who was named for $20,000; and Russell Rohrs, Marvin Rohrs, Eleanor Rohrs, Bobby Greenwald, Ruth Greenwald, Darrell Greenwald, Mabel Greenwald and Lois Rohrs, all cousins, who were left $5,000 each.

Judge Scovel's ruling was intended to clear the way for early settlement of the estate. It was asked by Forgy, Reinhaus & Forgy, attorneys representing the bank as executor.

Leader of 'Parade' Finally Arrested

A "parade" of eight cars, seven of them trying to pass the first one but having on success, was halted last night by Officers George Boyd and E. E. Lentz, who jailed the first motorist on drunk driving charges.

T. A. Crane, 63-year-old South Main street laborer, was booked at the county jail after Boyd and Lentz finally managed to pass and halt the impromptu "parade" on West Fifth street. They left Crane's car at a junk yard which was his destination with a load of old papers.

Seeks Authority To Handle Estate

Mrs. Alice S. Freeman, Huntington Beach, today asked the superior court here to appoint her legal guardian of her son, Roderick Howard Freeman, in order to manage property left the youth by his late father, Laverne A. Freeman.

Included are four shares of stock in the Marysville Hotel company, oil stock, and other securities.

TO VOTE ON LOAN

BRAWLEY, (AP)—Voters of the Imperial Irrigation District will be asked to vote soon on accepting two federal loans, totaling $3,460,000, for power plants and rural lines in the All-American Canal hydroelectric system.

Preserving Aid

"With the price of strawberries rapidly coming down to levels which make the thought of home preserving interesting to many women, attention is again focused upon making jams and jellies, and this year MCP liquid pectin in tin cans will bring a decided saving," H. T. Leo, president of the Mutual Citrus Products company, Anaheim, said yesterday. "A can of this pectin contains the same amount as the usual bottle of pectin, and makes as many glasses of jelly or jam as either the usual bottle of liquid pectin or two packages of powdered pectin."

"By the use of the tin container all possibility of breakage is removed, and substantial saving is made in the cost of the container. Hence, MCP canned pectin is offered at a much lower price than has prevailed heretofore on liquid pectin."

The pectin is milky white in color and has no strong taste or odor to affect any fruit or berry flavor. This pectin is made of citrus fruits. It contains a faint aroma and taste of lemon juice, which accents the flavor of what fruits or berries are used. Complete instructions are found on the inside of the label of every can.

"The leading grocers of Santa Ana are finding that this distinctive MCP pectin in tin cans is meeting with exceptional favor. Grocers are featuring and recommending MCP pectin for use with any kind of fruits and berries."

Open House At Santa Ana's Newest Food Market Tomorrow

Santa Ana's newest food market opened its doors to the public this morning. The new Pay-Less organization, owned and managed by local and Southland persons, will have its main office on the mezzanine of the local retail outlet. The above illustration is an artist's conception of the building as it looked this morning. The building fronts on Sycamore street and has a depth of 90 feet along Second street. Entrance to the parking lot north of the store will be between two historic pepper trees recognized as Santa Ana landmarks. One tree has been included to the left of the illustration. The parking lot will have male attendants who will park cars for all women patrons of the store.

Farm Bureau Will Fix Water Policy

The collective eye of the Orange County Farm bureau today was focused on plans for the forthcoming flood control bond election.

As soon as supervisors fix a date for the election, directors decided yesterday, heads of the water and ways and means committees will call a meeting of some 175 officers of the bureau, farm centers, and other groups to develop a policy for the bureau on the election.

BUREAU ADDS MEMBERS

One hundred forty-five new members have been added to the Orange County Farm bureau so far this year, according to a report by the membership committee at yesterday's director's meeting.

Widow Of Mate In 'Phantom Ship' Mystery Succumbs

NEW YORK. (AP)—When Mrs. Frances N. Richardson, 91, widow of the first mate of "the phantom ship," the Marie Celeste, whose crew vanished on the high seas in 1873, died last week, the mystery of her husband's fate still was unsolved.

As a bride, Mrs. Richardson stood down on the dock and waved goodbye to her husband, Albert, and the crew as the Marie Celeste sailed for Genoa and New York harbor with a cargo of alcohol in casks.

She never saw her husband again. The British bark, Dei Gratia, found the Marie Celeste floating on the ocean off the Azores on Dec. 4, 1873, nearly a month after she sailed—no man aboard.

The cargo was undisturbed, there were no signs of disorder, and food had been prepared for the next meal. The gold watch of the skipper, Capt. B. S. Briggs, hung by its chain beside his empty berth.

The ship's log said the vessel had passed the island of St. Mary in the Azores. That was the last entry.

JAILED FOR BATTERY

John Williams, 63, Orange, was beginning a 30-day term on battery charges in the county jail today. He was booked by Orange police yesterday.

Free Driver of Death Crash Blame

Paul Wilbur Bolton, 24, 3118 West Fifth street, today stood exonerated of blame for the traffic death of Ellsworth Nichols, 75.

A coroner's jury yesterday ruled the accident Tuesday night in which Nichols was struck by Bolton's car "unavoidable."

Another coroner's jury was to meet this afternoon for an inquest into the death of Mrs. Mary Keuhl, 65, struck by an auto Tuesday night at St. Gertrude and Main street.

CHARGED WITH ASSAULT

Valentino Ruiz, 27, Huntington Beach, was booked at the county jail on assault and battery charges yesterday afternoon by Constable B. H. Dulaney of Huntington Beach.

THE GHOST CANDIDATE...

Thaddeus Stevens so won the affections of his neighbors that they actually elected him a candidate for the Congress of the United States after he was dead.

Three times elected to Congress from the county of Lancaster, he became one of the leading members of the House. The news of his death in Washington, D. C., on August 11, 1868, came as a blow to his home community. The Republican primaries were scheduled for the following Saturday, August 15th.

The county chairman recommended, "As a fitting tribute to the memory of our most able and distinguished champion of freedom and justice, the unanimous vote of the party be cast for the name of Thaddeus Stevens in the ensuing primary meeting, and that arrangements be made later for filling the vacancy." Lancaster's citizens lauded the suggestion.

When the primary votes were counted, every one had been cast for a corpse, that of Thaddeus Stevens!

THE KING'S HORSES...

London le down its hair and went wild for the coronation of Edward I and Eleanor of Castile on August 2, 1273.

Judge Stump

Did you ever know a man who wouldn't turn around to watch a good-looking girl he'd passed on the street?

It's a habit everywhere. I recall the movie company that set out to film the picture, "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea." They had to quit. The divers got all tangled up turning around to watch the mermaids go by.

GAINES

Interest of almost the entire nation will be focussed upon Newport-Balboa Monday.

Great credit should go to Secretary Harry Welch for the idea of of Glenn Martin's flight from Newport to Catalina. It's a natural, "Local boy makes good" stuff, as well as an appeal to the natural interest in aviation. The harbor district will get thousands of dollars worth of publicity from the affair.

I'm swiping a bit from H. L. Sherman's "History of Newport Beach" to re-print here. This was written several years ago, and is still interesting in view of the coming celebration. Here she is:

"Few persons appreciate what epochal aviation has been conducted in Newport Beach, Glenn Martin, of Santa Ana, was one of the pioneers in the flying business, and owing to his close proximity to navigable water devoted considerable attention to the development of flying planes. In 1912, Martin conducted an aviation school at East Newport, and during that year performed some feats that were probably records at the time. On May 11, 1912, the Santa Ana aviator flew from Newport Beach to Avalon, 37 minutes, and returned via San Pedro in 51 minutes, the flight being made in a hydroplane.

"On November 22, 1912, Martin alighted alongside a motor boat in the bay, and took on board Colonel McKinstry, who at the time was U. S. Engineer officer at Los Angeles. Five days later he performed a stunt which, in-so far as the writer knows, has never been duplicated since, although navy seaplanes possibly may have done so. Martin alighted on the ocean near the Newport Pier, and drove his hydroplane ashore through the breakers. Then he turned the machine about, went out through the surf, and took off from the open water beyond."

Historian Sherman didn't add that this was the first time ever taken over the Pacific ocean.

This flying gentleman must have had more than his share of nerve to soar out over the channel in that flimsy plane. It would've been a long walk back if anything had busted!

Now we'll consider the case of Mayor A. C. Boice of Orange again. He's disappointed me several times lately. Once, when he didn't stage a ship-kicking contest with New Justice of the Peace Cal Lester. And again when he didn't do a Maypole dance at the recent Orange May Day fete.

But he didn't do so badly last Thursday.

It seems Hizzoner was telephoning. Right in the middle of the no doubt important conversation, an extremely noisy street grader ambled by. It upset Mayor Boice no end.

So on Wednesday night at the city council he proceeded to tell the street department a thing or two about operation of their first and second graders, only to discover that the noisy conversation interrupter belonged to the city.

Did that stop the mayor? Nope.

"If I'd known that was a county grader coming through the city on a state highway I would have confiscated it," he roared.

Which should be a warning to grader pilots!

I imagine Huntington Beach school board members are happy today. Voters have approved a special tax for construction of new mechanical arts building, to replace the old one, which was suffering from fallen arches, or something.

At the same time, the small handful which appeared at the polls voted down a proposed bond issue of $75,000 for the same purpose.

Superintendent Ray Atkinson pointed to this direct taxation for building on a "pay as you go" basis the other day in Placentia as the ideal method of financing such construction, pointing to the debt-free condition of the school districts there. Huntington Beach'll soon be in the same enviable condition. Congratulations to the school board!

HUGHES HITS MERCHANTS IN TALK

ORANGE.—Branding store owners who discharge employees who much wear aids to hearing as "most cruel" and threatening a boycott of such merchants by 15,000,000 hard-of-hearing residents of the country, Rupert Hughes, noted author, spoke before united service clubs here yesterday.

The hard-of-hearing are banded into a mighty force and can and will boycott such merchants, he added.

Greatly interested in the work of promoting the welfare of the deaf, Hughes is a member of the American Society of the Hard of Hearing. The society is striving to interest the public in the early detection of loss of hearing in both children and adults.

Hughes said the hard-of-hearing are not like common people. They do not have to listen to everything that comes on the wind, but can be exclusive. On the other hand, he said, cases of heart-break are caused by loss of hearing, especially among the young. He has received many letters from girls from 16 to 18 years old, who ask why they should not commit suicide because of the lack of understanding shown by those around them, he added.

The speaker was introduced by Miss Ruth Bartlett, lip-reading teacher of Santa Ana who, in turn, was introduced by W. H. Lowry, both of whom were instrumental in securing the speaker. Stanley Manur was program chairman and President H. D. Nichols of the Rotary club presented the speaker with a crate of oranges. Bouquets were presented Miss Mary Louise Bowler and Miss Helen Scrivner, Pasadena, vice president of the Pacific zone of the American Society of Hard of Hearing.

Miss Mary Louise Bowler, also member of the Hard of Hearing league, led community singing and sang a solo accompanied by Mrs. Jess Coe.

She has a part in the musical comedy, "New Faces," which has not been released yet and this week has a date to show the news reel cameramen how a four-year-old Miss should dive and swim.

Don Park, a resident of Santa Ana and field man for the Central Lemon Association of Villa Park, just purchased some acreage for a home site and lemon grove. Mr. and Mrs. Park expect to build at once and hope it will not be long before they can swim in their own pool under the sycamores.

CELEBRATE BIRTHDAY GARDEN GROVE.—Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Tobias, George Tobias and Miss Marion Briner of Santa Ana attended a dinner party at Los Angeles recently celebrating the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Harold Whaley, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tobias.

The late Marcus Trent of Miami, Florida, has left a million dollars to his nephew, Rodney Burton, provided he is unmarried when he reaches twenty-five. Otherwise, the money goes to a society headed by the unscrupulous J. Montrose Pettigrew. In accordance with Trent's wishes, Rodney, out in Gunnison, Colorado, is not informed of his uncle's death, nor of the terms of the will. Judge Justice, the late millionaire's lawyer, suspects that Pettigrew, to get his hands on the money, will hire a girl to go to Gunnison and maneuver Rodney into marriage before his twenty-fifth birthday, a month away. The judge decides to send his secretary, Judy Collins, to Gunnison to forestall any such scheme. She expects—and gets—objections from her fiancé, Peter Dent, struggling young lawyer, since she cannot tell him all the facts.

CHAPTER V IT WAS the last day of the school term in Wabash, Illinois. She saw at once that something had happened to Peter—the letter had been written at midnight.

"DEAR SIS—I'm in a awful mess. It's about Judy. We've quarreled. Our engagement is all broken up, and so am I. Tell me how to convince her. I'll do anything you want. I'm right now—figuratively."

"I'll try to give you a rough idea of the situation. I've told you she works for another lawyer, a fellow named Maureen Dent. We had dinner together tonight, and she told me she was practically en route to Colorado. Some sort of business trip that her boss is sending her on. She'll be back in a month."

"Having her gone a month was plenty hard to take, but I stood up under it. The blow-off came when she refused absolutely to tell me what it was all about. I tried to convince her I had a right to know, but Judy is—well, Judy. She doesn't mean maybe when she says no."

"Of course, you are aware that your dear brother was right up at the front of the line when tempers were being passed out. I said more than I intended to, and it all ended up in one awful bust."

"Nevertheless, I can't get over the feeling that there's something distinctly fishy about the whole set-up. Judy's hurrying out to Gunnison, Colorado, all alone on this secret mission for old uncle Justice, and I wonder, I'm worried sick about her. There must be something wrong with the picture if she couldn't even tell her fiancé what it was all about."

"Whether you agree with my diagnosis or not will you do me a great favor? It's wild and crazy—but I want you to grab a train for Gunnison and look up Judy without letting her know who you are. Call yourself Maureen Smith. The only picture of Judy's ever seen is that one when you were six. The thing is that I want you to watch over her—to make sure she's all right and isn't getting into anything she hasn't bargained for."

"Will you be the swiftest sister in the world and do that for me? I know you're a real debater where to spend your vacation and I understand Gunnison is a marvelous summer resort. You can keep me informed of developments by letter. You'll think I'm slightly nuts. I am. I love that gal."

"If you can go, just send me a wire saying okay."

"Your haywire brother."

Maureen sent Peter a wire as soon as she finished reading his letter. The wire said, "OKAY."

Then, she made a reservation on a train to Colorado, and started packing with concentrated energy.

course, his Judy might be as wonderful as he thought, but Maureen felt she was a happier if she could see for herself.

SHE reached the trim white house where she had boarded all winter, turned up the walk, mounted the steps, and passed through the open doorway into the cool hall.

There was a letter for her on the hall stand—an imposing letter, with air-mail and special-delivery stamps. From Peter!

He had been a little faster as she hurried upstairs to her room, tearing the envelope open. Had something happened to Peter?

WHAT PEOPLE ARE DOING ALONG ORANGE COUNTY'S COASTLINE

RECORD CROWD ANTICIPATED FOR H. B. TRAILER EVENT

Advance Registrations Indicate Huge Attendance at May 28-June 6 Convention as Chamber Program Nears Completion

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Reservations already pouring into headquarters at Huntington Beach indicate that a United States record for attendance at a trailer convention may be shattered at the seven-day event planned here May 28 to June 6, W. H. Gallienne, chamber of commerce secretary announced today.

Gallienne pointed to other conventions, held in the east and in Florida, where as high as 15,000 persons have attended at some time during the event. Huntington Beach is offering a more elaborate program than most communities, and should prove a strong lure to bring easterners to the Pacific coast, he added.

Reservations Made
More than 50 trailer owners already have made reservations for the convention. Invitations have been sent to thousands of owners throughout the country, with many interested replies received daily at headquarters here, it was reported.

A huge outdoor show, it was planned by committees in charge of the event, and will include exhibits of trailers, camping and fishing equipment, guns and all other outdoor necessities. The show will be in the small park directly north of Memorial hall.

To Choose Queen
Election of a queen will feature the opening day of the event on May 28. She will be chosen from among those actually arriving in a trailer for the convention. A huge parade and entertainment by merchants is planned for the following day. On Monday Memorial day exercises, parades and hand concerts will be offered visitors. Gallienne announced.

Many interesting events have been slated for each day, including a monster "mardi gras" street dance, a nation-wide photographic contest and community entertainments, it has been decided.

A novel feature of the convention will be award of a prize to the trailer traveling from the most distant point, Gallienne said, pointing out that at an eastern convention recently a trailer from Australia was awarded a similar prize.

Club To Honor Newport Man
NEWPORT-BALBOA.—Commander Albert Soland will be honored at a dinner at the University club at Los Angeles, Friday, May 14, by members of the naval reserve.

Entertainment on the program includes a sound picture, History of Aviation, the invitation noted.

Fullerton Man Buys Mesa Home
COSTA MESA.—Frank J. Frowiss, Fullerton, has purchased the home of Charles Gray, on Newport boulevard, and will reside there for the next month while completing erection of his new home on East Nineteenth street. Gray will move to Santa Ana.

Plans for the beach trip to be taken next Friday were discussed in the meeting held by the Sea Fans during the noon hour in the cafeteria last Tuesday, May 4. The club will collect sea specimens, which they will preserve. High prices would be paid for preserved sea life, but the club is doing it for the experience only. Carroll Brinkerhoff, Cecelia Earel, and Virginia Campbell comprise the committee for the transportation. Ted Rinker, Keith Jones, and Paul Mercer became new members of the club.

The seventh and eighth grades are now taking their annual Stanford achievement tests, which are a summary of the last year's work and a basis for next year's work. Miss Plumb, counselor, announced today the tests are being given in the English classes.

The H-S-C English class of 105 is now reading the play "Julius Caesar" by Shakespeare. They will dramatize the play after they have studied it. "The Vision of Sir Launfal" by Lowell, was their last topic, from which they had memorization and interpretation. The book which they use is "The English Reader-8th Grade."

The Willard Boy Scout Troop 33 sponsored by the P-T. A., left for Mr. Walter Egger's cabin in the Pasadena mountains for a three day camping trip. Fifteen boys left here May 5 under the direction of Scoutmaster Egger, Committee-man Low and Senior Patrol Leader Bill Friend. The boys are expected back Sunday.

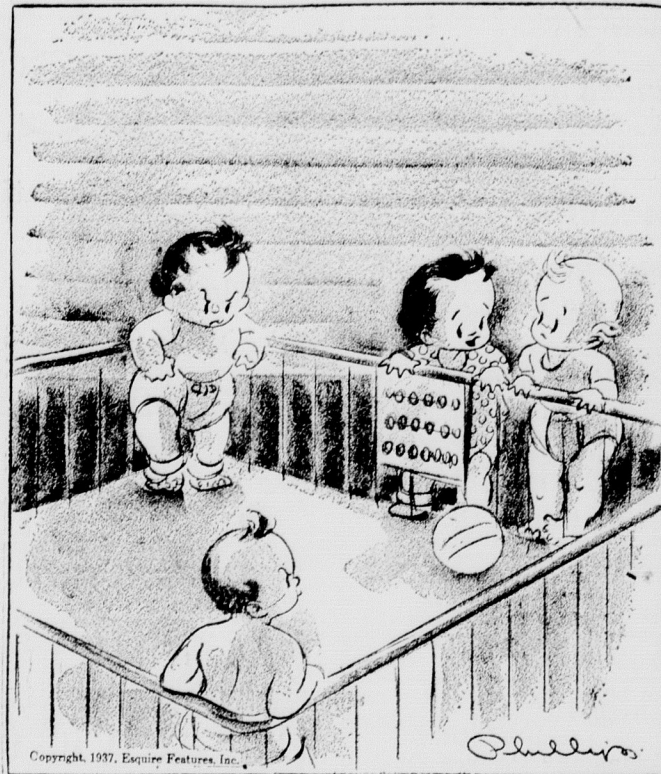

A short meeting of the eighth grade Girl Reserves, directed by Roberta Nichols, was held May 5 in room 11. Plans for the Mother-Daughter tea to be given by the combined Girl Reserve clubs of Santa Ana May 28, were discussed. The next meeting it was decided, would be a trip to the jail, and the following meeting an outdoor picnic at the Santiago creek park. Plans for camp were discussed, and it was decided that a cabinet meeting would be held Monday, May 10, immediately after school.

It was decided that there will be no more initiations for the incoming members of the Hi-Y club at a recent meeting held in the Y. M. C. A. The members discussed the night-ball league which will start next Saturday with Lathrop playing the Pathfinders. There will be 50 cents entry fee for this league, which will practice every Saturday in the Municipal bowl. It was also decided that a member must attend three meetings in a row to be eligible to play in the league. Swimming was enjoyed by the boys at the close of the meeting.

PLAN SPORTSMAN'S MECCA FOR NEWPORT DISTRICT

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—Being rushed to completion here are improvements which are expected to bring Newport-Balboa to the forefront as the most outstanding sport-fishing center along the coast, city officials said today.

Projects which will allow parking space in front of Newport pier for 1000 cars are being rushed. Crowds already have taxed facilities here, with early start of what appears to be a banner fishing season.

Other improvements nearing completion are a modern pier landing to safeguard handling of live-bait boats and barge fishermen leaving the end of the pier for deep sea fishing along the Orange county coastline, and a municipally owned 200-capacity modern auto trailer camp.

H. T. McElwaine, pier superintendent, reports that regular schedules are now in effect, for all boats departing for barges or fishing grounds. The first boats leave at 6, 6:30 and 7 a. m. daily with barge tenders on 30-minute schedules.

Week-end crowds taxed the new Barge "California," recently placed two miles offshore, which accommodates some 250 anglers, as well as the live-bait boats "Valencia," "Sunshine," "May-B," "Owl," "Panama" and "Miss Alhambra," in addition to the numerous privately owned boats.

Mesa Club Plans Garden Party
COSTA MESA.—A gala garden party is being planned for May 17 by the Friday Afternoon club, the festivities to be held in the patio at "Arboles Verdes," the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Flinn at 201 Broadway.

The affair, which will begin at 1 o'clock, will be in the nature of a desert bridge with a special floor show of local talent. Tickets will be sold, the proceeds to go toward the benefit of the club. Arrangements are being made for 150 guests.

ISLAND YACHT CLUB RITES TOMORROW

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—Members of the Balboa Yacht club are opening their club season tomorrow with a dinner dance at the Balboa Island quarters, it was announced today by Joseph F. Bosio, treasurer.

Invitations were extended to non-members in the Harbor area. Full program for the opening day will include 6-and-8-meter races from San Pedro to Newport-Balboa with the finish before the clubhouse, Bosio said. Sunday also will be featured by Star boat, 6-and-8-meter sailing races, the program said.

SERVICE CLUB MEETING SET

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—Members of the Newport Harbor Service club were looking forward to something of a banquet at their meeting Wednesday.

Heinz Kaiser, major domo and chef extraordinary of Bay Shore camp, will wave the gavel for the first time that day as newly elected president of the club. Other officers chosen for the new year include Robert Boyd, first vice-president; T. E. Bouchey, second vice-president, and Mason Siler, secretary.

ATTEND PAGEANT
COSTA MESA.—Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Wilcox and children, Eddie and Frances, drove to Hemet Sunday where they had picnic dinner in Westland park and in the afternoon attended the Ramona pageant.

NEW YORK. (AP)—Landing
stocks encountered recovery difficulties in today's market, and closing price trends were indefinite.
A few specialties advanced sharply on comparatively small turnovers and resistance was displayed by others. But vigor was lacking in either direction.

Rails pushed up briskly at the start, with Santa Fe hitting a new top and one block of 12,000 shares of N. Y. Central coming out at a fractional advance. These, with other carriers, were pushed and pulled at intervals. Farm implements also had their innings, along with mail orders.

Activity was a bit more pronounced than yesterday, but dealings were still relatively slow.

Death Smites The Hindenburg

CHARRED human bodies and the twisted framework of the giant dirigible Hindenburg at Lakehurst may mark the end of the trail of lighter-than-air transportation in the United States, at least until the horror of yesterday's disaster fades from the mind.

It will be a long time before America can forget the blazing Hindenburg with its human victims, or the Shenandoah, the Akron and the Macon.

Even more striking than the loss of our American ships was yesterday's disaster. For while it was known that many radical experiments marked our ill-fated sky-craft, different conditions prevailed regarding the German dirigible.

The Hindenburg was the flagship of a German commercial zeppelin fleet which has carried one million passengers without a fatality prior to the horrible explosion.

It was built in famous German factories which have been constructing rigid gas bags for nearly half a century, not along highly experimental lines like those of this country, but from the conservative designs of experienced engineers.

It was manned by a crew of veteran officers and men, some of whom had flown for 25 years.

So safe was the Hindenburg considered, that in the current issue of Collier's magazine a writer states that "only a stroke of war or an unfathomable act of God will ever mar this German dirigible passenger safety record."

Like the Titanic, it was supposedly "disaster-proof." But small comfort that is today to friends and relatives of those who died in the searing hydrogen flames at Lakehurst.

The spectacular destruction which has overtaken the major dirigibles in America no doubt will set many people inflexibly against this mode of travel.

It is not comfortable to know that you are riding under seven million cubic feet of highly explosive hydrogen, and that there is even one chance in a million that you might be burned to a crisp a mile high in the air.

But although America has had such an unfortunate experience with dirigibles, the catastrophe probably will not set back Germany's ambitious plans for zeppelin routes encircling the entire globe. Her record with the craft is far safer and better than ours. And right now she is building the L-130, an improved ship; and plans are talked of a dirigible twice as big as the one which exploded yesterday.

The world moves on. Progress comes although many perish in its path.

In a few years the tragedy of the Hindenburg will become but a faint memory even in our own land. And men will span the seas and continents in vast cruisers that will make the mightiest creations of 1937 seem like mere playthings of a pygmy race.

That movie strike in Hollywood probably is spoken of at the studios as the most super-colossal, stupendous, feature length walkout that ever occurred.

Classes In Study Of Peace

WHAT will these modern students be up to next? A group of 2500 at the University of Washington has asked the faculty to establish a class in the study of peace.

Can it be that they think our school system has been unwise in concentrating so much on the study of war, of military campaigns and conquests?

Or have these young Americans decided that they would prefer to learn all about the fruits of peace which are so sweet instead of poring over the bitter fruits of war?

There is real merit in the idea, however, and it might be applied to other universities and schools.

Teach the youngsters how to maintain peace and of diplomacy's occasional great triumphs in preventing war. Teach them also the need of a strong home defense in a world such as ours, while showing the folly of wars of conquest.

With such a purpose, classes in peace study could be made a vitally important part of any school.

Spare Those Flowers

TIME was when people, particularly boys, wantonly robbed bird's nests of eggs. That cruel sort of vandalism has practically vanished—stamped out by education.

But still we have those who pick wildflowers, although they know it is against the law and that indiscriminate ravaging of the once beautiful fields of poppies, lupins and other colorful blossoms has sharply depleted the vistas that greeted the eyes of Californians in bygone days. And a wildflower will gleam for days on its native stalk, while it wilts within 24 hours in a vase.

It took a long time for public opinion to rise to the point of giving wildflowers statutory protection. How long will it take to educate people to obey the law willingly?

DIDN'T O. O. McIntyre's usually accurate and graphic memory jump a cog earlier this week? He wrote in his "Whimsies"—"Memory: Plunging the hand into the cool cranberry barrel on a hot summer day at the village grocery."

Now, in what part of the known world, and when, did cranberries ever ripen and go to market in the summer-time? Not where we grew up; never in this 20th century!

Dick Powell might be young Ted Roosevelt slightly shrunk. Howard Hughes could pass for Colonel Lindbergh in a dim light. And any Sealym full face is a dead ringer for Ford Madox Ford. Never knew a man named Fuller who wasn't a cut-up. The illustrators' Grand Old Man—Howard Chandler Christy.

A San Francisco drama critic sums up Elaine Barry with: "She looks like Salome and acts like salami." Nobody can appear so flutteringly breathless as Ika Chase. The town's richest producer—and one of the most successful—Dwight Deere Wiman. His latest is a hit.

Rhyme: Still a glib talker is Mayor Walker. Nearest to the late Bert Williams' sense of negro comedy—that of Eddie Green. Not many actors have made the years pay such youthful dividends as Bert Lytell. He could still be the flannelled lieutenant juvenile in the old musical comedies.

Fred C. Kelly is among the increasing number of writers who have completely deserted the cities for the back country. For 30 years Kelly was a magazine writer, dividing his time between New York and Cleveland and for a several year period was a Washington political correspondent. About nine years ago he decided he was fed up with the hurrah and bought a farm near Peninsula, where he lives the year around, doing farm work most of the time, writing when he feels like it, and bounding off to Russia to view first-hand the progress of the Soviet. It was Kelly who, riding in the subway toward Bowling Green one day, saw a passenger get on carrying a bright axe. "Ah," beamed Kelly, "a woodsman from Brooklyn."

Those several opulent windows along Fifth avenue with invisible glass are often exciting. Articles of great value seem within such tempting reach. A night cop says that several times he has stood in the shadows to watch some furtive figure shuffle up to one of the displays, look about quickly, reach and be utterly bewildered when his hand touched glass.

Perhaps it is the E. Phillips Oppenheim influence, but few types interest me more than the international crook. I mean the suave, monocled and bespattered cosmopolite who speaks many languages and is at home in any gathering. I have met two at various times. One on an ocean liner who wore tweeds and full dress with equal ease. He met anyone on the boat he cared to meet without appearing officious. He was greeted at Southampton by two men from Scotland Yard who had tipped by wireless. And when he stepped down the gangplank in his first step toward entering Old Bailey he had an air—the dash that goes with worldliness. I read in a London paper he was an old offender and got an eight-year sentence.

The other roaming rascal was pointed out to me in the little room at Ciro's in Paris by Michael Arlen, who had used his counterpart in a short story in a British magazine. He was in immaculate white-tied elegance, dining alone with an alert, proud and piercing look. Every gesture bespoke culture and breeding. Several weeks later I saw him sauntering along a promenade at Cannes at the cocktail hour. And when he sat down at a terrace table I occupied one adjoining and tried to engage him in conversation by some casual observation about the weather. He replied with a grin and a smile that wavered between politeness and haughtiness and then shook out his folded Paris Herald to indicate he cared for no further talk. In a life of many rebukes I do not believe I ever felt quite so thoroughly squelched.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON.—Certain justice department big-shot apparently don't see eye to eye with the President on his loudly ballyhooed trust-busting drive.

Hidden away in the department's appropriation bill is a little provision that will enable, these caliphs to hamstring the recently rejuvenated anti-trust division which prosecutes monopoly cases.

For many years it has been the established practice for congress to segregate the funds of the division from the rest of the justice department's appropriation, and to vote the money directly to the division. This was intended to strengthen its hands in fighting off political interference or departmental sabotage.

But this year this traditional safeguard is secretly wiped out in the department's supply measure. Instead of the division's funds being separated, they are incorporated in the department's general appropriation. This means that beginning July 1, Robert Jackson, the brilliant young lawyer whom the President recently made head of the anti-trust division, will be stripped of power over the purse-strings of his agency.

And that means he will cease to be his own boss and that Attorney General Homer Cummings and his axe-man, Assistant Attorney General Joe Keenan, will become the real rulers of the division. Keenan is the man who put over the provision in the secrecy of the house appropriations committee. He told the congressman that the measure was desirable to make the department's funds "more flexible."

Several weeks ago Jackson signaled his new regime by filing suit against the giant Aluminum corporation. Cummings had taken for four years about taking such action, but had done nothing. After July 1, if Jackson moves to proceed against some other alleged anti-trust violators, Cummings and Keenan will again be in a position to see that nothing happens.

Threat of filibuster against his court bill is not worrying the President. He has already figured out just how he will handle such a maneuver if it develops.

He explained his strategy to a caller just before he went on his fishing trip. The visitor hinted that unless some concessions were made the opposition might resort to filibuster. Roosevelt smiled pleasantly, replied:

"No concessions and no compromises. Filibuster doesn't worry me. I can take care of that. I'm off on a fishing trip now. In June, if a filibuster is on, I'll go up to Hyde Park for a few weeks. If the filibuster still is on in July I'll go to Maine for a couple of weeks fishing."

"You see, the filibusterers will have to wait for me."

Radio is a young industry, but some of the radio cases pending before the federal communications commission have long white whiskers.

Over three years ago, radio station WKZO of Kalamazoo, Mich., applied to the FCC for license to broadcast in the evening as well as in the daytime.

The commission granted the application, but another station demanded that the FCC reconsider. This was WOW in Omaha, which claimed that WKZO territory would be invaded. WOW won the bout, but WKZO came back for more. After another long delay the commission, for a second time ruled in favor of the Kalamazoo station, and a second time WOW stepped in with a formal motion to reconsider.

The legal machinery of FCC is such that apparently there is no limit to the number of times motions to reconsider can be made.

The third bout between these two contenders is now in progress. Last week the commission, for the third time, ruled that WKZO would not harm WOW if it broadcast at night. But before the effective date of that ruling, June 8, WOW is expected to be on hand with another motion to reconsider. (Copyright, 1937)

"SOMETHING WRONG"
To the Editor: There are people in England who have to be shown just the same as those in these United States.

In 1830 a man over there built an engine he said would travel on a track faster than a horse could run. The "show me" people said nonsense, it couldn't be done. But they watched the man prepare the engine he had named Rocket. Soon all was ready. It started, it kept going and travelled 29 miles an hour. So the people had been shown. It seems so many people cannot realize other people know a thing or two.

Now another great idea, far-reaching and all-embracing, is being promulgated. This system will abolish poverty, create purchasing power, increase business, eliminate unemployment, kill the depression and give us prosperity. The Townsend Plan, and even now will be the Magna Charta of our economic liberty and independence.

All great reforms start at the bottom. Jesus was a carpenter. Edison a telegraph operator. Townsend a country doctor. To label the plan as a crazy idea without understanding its working program is foolish, for since history began the human brain has conquered the earth, the sea, and the air. The Townsend Plan is not visionary, but plain common sense. Isn't there something radically wrong that in a land of plenty we have the paradox of too much food and too many people ill fed; too much cotton and too many people half clothed, too much money and too few people circulating any of it, too much brains, and too little common sense? "IOWAN"

CRIME REMEDY
To the Editor: In the face of crime statistics of the country, as published in your editorial of J. Edgar Hoover, I would suggest the following procedure:

Abolish the parole system. It is sheer folly to release known criminals on society in the name of rehabilitation. Also I would abolish the bail system. Money is credited with too much power in America. Evil-doers can buy their way out of jail and prepare a superb defense on the outside by this vicious policy.

Finally, and most important of all, there is a vital need of less crime prevention and more justice. 150,000 murderers roaming around loose is an indictment of American justice.

Since then not a word has come from the board on the case.

I know a supreme court justice. Have known quite a number of them. You find them in or near state capitols.

All the talk lately about the supreme court of the United States causes me to run back through memory and take stock of the supreme court justices I have known. If I'd known just a few more I could almost write a book about them.

I don't imagine that United States supreme court justices are very unlike the supreme court justices of the various states, do you? Getting to be a United States supreme court justice takes quite a political drag. That means the U. S. judges are probably better politicians than the state justices. The state justices have to go to the voters to get their appointments. That's the hard way.

The supreme court justice mentioned in the very first sentence above wants to be a member of the United States supreme court. And I hope he makes it. If I can help him make the grade I'll surely do it.

I know a supreme court justice. Have known quite a number of them. You find them in or near state capitols.

All the talk lately about the supreme court of the United States causes me to run back through memory and take stock of the supreme court justices I have known. If I'd known just a few more I could almost write a book about them.

I don't imagine that United States supreme court justices are very unlike the supreme court justices of the various states, do you? Getting to be a United States supreme court justice takes quite a political drag. That means the U. S. judges are probably better politicians than the state justices. The state justices have to go to the voters to get their appointments. That's the hard way.

The supreme court justice mentioned in the very first sentence above wants to be a member of the United States supreme court. And I hope he makes it. If I can help him make the grade I'll surely do it.

This fellow doesn't know any more about pomp or fake ceremony than does a railway trainman. There's some sense in that smile, too. For he is a railway trainman. Not was but IS. At heart, I mean. He served years at railroad.

Yes, my supreme court justice is one of the humanest men you ever saw. Everybody who knows him calls him Bill. If they called him Mr. Justice when he's not on the bench he'd be pretty sore about it.

This fellow is a great friend of all boys. He believes that normal kids will grow up to be pretty decent citizens if they're given half a chance by society and by their own parents. Parents mess up a lot of kids lives he believes.

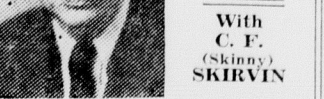

It isn't all theory with him, either. As with the law, he rolls up his sleeves and works with the boys in their problems and their pleasures. The kids of half a state love him.

If Mr. Roosevelt ever calls for nominations for place on the top supreme court I'll name my man in a hurry. He would grace the highest bench of the nation with a simple, homely grace that is all too rare in such places.

A judge who doesn't try to be more than a good, square, understanding human being is good enough for me—supreme or un-supreme.

There must be something in the Air. The artioses were, exhilarating and healthful. Charley Seaman, never conspicuous for avoidpods, moves into the neighboring state for temporary residence and physical rehabilitation. The astonishing report comes to me that since his stay in Phoenix he has been able to make 30 pounds affix itself to his anatomy. It is difficult for me to reconcile myself to the change in his appearance. However, assuming that it has been done, I shall consider most seriously any proposition which will sustain my residence in the state of Arizona. Submit propositions in writing, accompanied by certified check.

Will those friends of mine who inquire how it is possible to collect enough copy for this column every day, deign that inquiry and help me get it.

The Breakfast club meeting last Thursday morning looked like a past presidents anniversary. Seven former chief executives gathered to assist in the ninth year birthday party. Usually at birthday parties everyone blows his horn, but this time the blowing was done by Gene Kahen, who introduced the past presidents. It was a happy event from the time it was launched until the harbor was reached. The Breakfast club ship came in loaded with good fellowship and delightful informality.

I've got to get some dietetical expert to tell me how to follow the chart when he gets his breakfast. The Breakfast club, his lunch in a downtown cafe, and dinner with a lot of other journalistic hash.

After listening to a quartet composed of Paul Elliott, Ralph Hoskins, and the other quartet, I decided to take a ride without getting sick. Sort of like the waltz swing to that tune, and then again there is something sentimental about getting home. I've been on voyages where I don't know how, if ever, I would be able to get home. There is something euphonious about the word home. There isn't any place like it, unless you happen to try to sneak in about 6 o'clock in the morning, and then it's different.

Somebody will have to appoint a committee on weather adjustment. Part of my constituents are asking for an inch of rain before the month of May folds up, and others don't want it. If I can get a home committee to agree, it won't be necessary to send the proposition to Madame Perkins.

Fifty years ago next June 17th, E. P. Nickey was in business in Santa Ana, operating a hardware store. There is not a man in business in Santa Ana today who was in business at the time Mr. Nickey flung his mercantile sign to the ocean breeze. The personnel has changed in the merchandising circle, as we say, in the material appearance of the store. But, I am sure, Rankin's and Vandermast's, Geo. Kryhl come nearer the Nickey record. This ought to give the old-timers enough to start an argument and get this column some copy.

Midwest correspondent who spent most of the winter in California says she arrived home in time to get the flu.

Some guy sends me a remedy for obesity. Get him weighing in and taking a cursory examination. I am sure the literature was intended for another fellow. The arrow points down where the girth begins, and I can't tell. That's why I am sure it was not intended for me. However, if for some reason I am unable to accurately read the literature was intended for me, I'll have to change my cognomen.

Swell car, says I, noticing a streamline truck approaching. The full view revealed it was the city's garbage wagon, and was I surprised!

I don't like insinuating rumors. You can't fight 'em because you are the last one to hear about them if you are the involved party. Few people, and few friends, have the courage to acquaint you of some ugly rumor. Consequently you are at a disadvantage because you are unacquainted with the gossip. It takes a lifetime to build a character. It takes but a few minutes to tear it to pieces. You can never completely rebuild that character. "Man's inhumanity to man" is an old quotation. You never realize the full force of that statement until you have been seared with an ugly rumor. To the man who has not reached the more mature experience of his insinuations come with crushing force. When you get as old as I am they can say anything they want to about you and you won't care a whoop. So far I've been dealt with quite generously. I'm speaking for a more kindly consideration for those who are still to negotiate the journey. I never heard of any one going to jail, or carrying around a guilty conscience, by speaking kindly of his fellow men.
